SLAYING RUM RUNNERS ESCAPE

Eight Drown at Sunday School Picnic

HURLED INTO WATER WHEN BOAT UPSETS

Seven Children and Adult Lose Lives While Enjoying Moonlight Boat Ride

MOTHERS PACE SHORE

Gay Outing by Youngsters On Ontario Lake Turns Out to Be Sad Affair

(By United Press)

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 7.—A Sunday school picnic, which was to have closed with a moonlight boat ride, ended in tragedy here last night when the boat capsized on Lake Pinafore. Seven children, the oldest 8 years of age, and one adult, were drowned.

The party was a joint picnic of the St. John's Sunday school, of St. Thomas, and St. Luke's Sunday school, of Yarmouth Heights. There were 20 children and a few adults on board when the boat upset.

Five Bodies Recovered

The bodies recovered are those of:

- MRS. THOMAS WATTS.
- JEAN ROBINSON, 8.
- EDITH MAY ROBINSON, 8.
- FRANCES VIDLER, 8.
- MURRAY BARNES, 6.

Bodies believed to be still in the water are:

- ROLAND SMITH, 5.
- JACKIE SUTHERLAND, 6.
- JEAN MURRAY, 7.

At the time the boat overturned, the banks of the little lake were lined with people, and dozens of men plunged into the water to rescue the children.

Several hundred automobiles were lined on the bank of the lake with their glaring searchlights thrown on the water to furnish light to the rescue party.

Relatives Are Frantic

Mother's sisters and fathers ran up and down the shore, wringing their hands and crying, searching for tidings of their little ones, not knowing whether they were on the ill-fated boat.

The swan boat was constructed of two large rowboats, fastened side to side with a flat bottom and high sides, and had a large swan's neck and head at the prow. It was propelled by a paddle-wheel operated on a bicycle frame.

WHITE TROUSERS BANNED AT BEACH

LONG BEACH, July 7.—Women wearing white trousers on the beaches, without bathing suits on, were subjected to police censorship here today.

Warm sultry weather brought out a parade of white trousers, on streets and on beaches. The girls who wore them, according to Police Chief J. S. Yancey, were "cheating the law" by discarding their bathing suits.

"When worn simply as trousers, the white pants are illegal and we will arrest the girls who wear them," declared Yancey. "If worn as protection from the sun, over a bathing suit, they will be regarded as a substitute for pajamas or bathrobes, and strictly legal."

A detail of policemen patrolled streets and beaches to enforce the new ruling. The main difficulty, in enforcing the edict, the police chief admitted, is to determine which girls are wearing bathing suits under the white trousers.

FORECAST OF STORMS IS PROMISE OF RELIEF TO EAST FROM INTENSE HEAT

CHICAGO, July 7.—With cooling thunder showers forecast for this afternoon along the eastern seaboard, most of the east, which has sweltered for three days in an extreme heat wave, looked forward to relief by nightfall.

Storms and showers in Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri and generally throughout the middle west brought a measure of relief to those regions early today.

Pola Is Fined $57,000 for Gem Smuggling

NEW YORK, July 7.—Pola Negri, who suffered a lapse of memory when returning from Europe recently and brought in without declarations $35,000 worth of jewels, was fined $57,000 by the U. S. treasury department, it was reported here today. Pola at first blamed a maid, but the latter denied complicity.

FEDERAL BREAD INDUSTRY QUIZ IS ABANDONED

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The federal trade commission's investigation of the bread industry, the farm cooperative movement and part of the "power trust" investigation, all of which were ordered by senate resolutions, have been abandoned.

The commission's appropriations for the fiscal year, started late Wednesday, do not allow for any "economic" investigations unless violation of the anti-trust laws is specifically charged, or unless the probe was ordered by a joint congressional resolution.

The discontinued investigations were ordered by senate resolutions, which did not charge such violations. Commissioner Van Fleet's investigation and that part of the power trust probe which seeks to discover if the General Electric company was pursuing practices in violation of the anti-trust laws, however, are being carried on without abatement, Van Fleet said. These come within the present scope of the commission.

SLAYS WIFE, CHILD AND KILLS HIMSELF

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 7.—Crazed by the heat, Ernest Franzen, 41, laborer, slashed his wife and one child to death with a butcher knife, wounded four other children and committed suicide early today.

Attacking the entire family during the night, Franzen killed his wife, Ellen, 39, and one son, Morris, 9, before the other four children were awakened. Screaming in terror, the four elder children ran to the street in their night clothes but all were seriously injured.

Passing motorists, attracted by the children's cries, summoned the police.

Ethel, 17, is in a serious condition in a hospital, suffering from knife wounds in the neck, head, arms, legs and chest. Margaret, 13, was seriously cut about the head and body. When police arrived the bodies of the wife and younger son were found in the kitchen and Franzen's body was upstairs. He had slashed his throat.

Kill Assailant of Chinese Officials

LONDON, July 7.—A Yunnanese officer in Canton attempted to assassinate Wu Han Min, commissioner of foreign affairs, and Gen. Nao Chung Chi, as the latter was returning by automobile from the inauguration of the new government, according to a Hong Kong dispatch to the Times. Both intended victims were slightly injured, while their bodyguard killed the assailant.

It is anticipated that the decision of the tribes around Taza will not be known for two days.

Meantime the French government has named Gen. Stanislas Naulin, World war veteran, to take command of the Moroccan operations.

At the proceedings late yesterday, which drew attention to this hitherto obscure little town, Federal Judge John I. Gore refused to grant an injunction against the trial of the Scopes evolution case in the state courts at Dayton.

By his ruling, he assured the opening of the Scopes case at Dayton—which means so much to the little town—and opened and closed quiet Cookeville's hour of public attention.

DARROW WILL NOT ASK POSTPONEMENT. CHICAGO, July 7.—"We will not ask for a postponement of the Scopes trial at Dayton," Clarence Darrow, one of the chief attorneys for the defense in the evolution case, told the United Press today. "We will let the trial go ahead as scheduled."

MARANVILLE NAMED TO MANAGE CHICAGO

NEW YORK, July 7.—"Rabbit" Maranville, star infielder for the Chicago Cubs, was appointed manager of the team to succeed Bill Killifer, it was announced today by John O. Sweeney, secretary of the club. Maranville took charge of the club just before the game against the Brooklyn Robins today. No explanation accompanied the announcement, but it was considered that the poor showing of the team this season caused the change in management.

GENERAL U. S. TAX DECLINE IS PROMISED

Marked Decrease in Normal And Surtax Rates to Be Requested by Coolidge

REPEAL IN INHERITANCE

Fundamental Element Regarded As Amount of Cash Coming from Levy

(By United Press)

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 7.—The general tax reduction policy to be recommended by President Coolidge to the coming session of congress, involving marked decrease in both normal and surtax rates, was announced today at the summer White House. The spokesman for the president said the administration would recommend the surtax rate, which treasury figures showed would produce the greatest revenue. It was indicated this rate was expected to range anywhere from 12 to 25 per cent, but certainly not higher than the latter figure.

Rates at Present Time

Under the existing revenue bill, surtaxes range from one per cent on net income of $10,000 to $14,000, gradually upward to a maximum of 40 per cent on net incomes over $500,000.

The president was said to feel that the fundamental element in the administration tax reduction program was the amount of revenue which could be drawn under the new bill. It was said the administration would recommend any surtax which seemed to meet this requirement, so long as it was not one so high that in any indirect way it affected business.

It was indicated a 25 per cent surtax would be the maximum in the administration's bill, and the highest surtax might be considerably lower.

Figures Not Received

Definite treasury figures, which would permit the president to reach an exact decision on the normal and surtax rates he will recommend, have not yet been received at the summer White House, but Mr. Coolidge has made up his mind on the general outlines of the administration's bill.

The president's recommendations to congress this fall will probably crystallize along the lines of a slightly reduced normal tax, a surtax maximum of 18 to 25 per cent and ultimate or immediate repeal of the federal inheritance tax.

Year Since Son Died

Today is the first anniversary of the death of Calvin Coolidge Jr., younger son of President and Mrs. Coolidge.

They had planned to spend the day in Plymouth, Vt., so that they might visit the little hilltop graveyard where the boy is buried, but the sudden illness of the president's father caused an earlier trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge spent the day quietly, but there was no interruption of the president's daily program.

STRIVE TO KEEP TRIBES' LOYALTY

PARIS, July 7.—French headquarters in Morocco are striving hard to keep tribes around Taza loyal to France.

Press dispatches to the United States today related that Taza is now a cloud on the horizon for France in connection with her struggle against Abd El Krim, Riffian warrior, for there is a question whether the troops in that vicinity will declare for France or throw themselves with Krim.

It is anticipated that the decision of the tribes around Taza will not be known for two days.

Meantime the French government has named Gen. Stanislas Naulin, World war veteran, to take command of the Moroccan operations.

Ellsworth to Make New Dash for Pole

OSLO, July 7.—Regardless of the plans of Roald Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth, the American who was the hero of the recent aerial dash for the north pole, intends to have another try, he informed the United Press.

"I'm determined to reach the pole," Ellsworth said. "I won't give up without another try, although my plans are not yet made."

BRYAN ARRIVES IN DAYTON FOR MONKEY TRIAL

(By United Press)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 7.—William Jennings Bryan, mainstay of the prosecution of John Scopes, arrived here today from Jacksonville, Fla., at 1:20 p. m.

The Commoner was met at the station by a crowd of 300, including the reception committee and the entire staff of the prosecution counsel.

"Well, I'm here," was Bryan's opening statement to the half-hundred newspapermen. "There were no incidents of importance on the trip. One thing I think you might say, I find the prosecution in good spirits and pleased with the decision of Judge Gore not to take the case out of the hands of the state. I'm feeling fine and will stay here until the trial is over."

Attorneys Greet Bryan.

All of the chief figures of the case were at the station except Scopes. John R. Neal, chief of the defense counsel, went, but said he was going only "as an interested Rhea county spectator."

The reception committee was headed by Judge McKenzie and included his brother, J. Gorman McKenzie, Sue and Herk Hicks, Walter Haggard, and P. R. Rodgers, at whose house Bryan and his family will reside.

After the Commoner submitted to photographs and battled his way through the crowd, he entered a sedan with his counsel staff and was driven through the cleared streets to his temporary home.

A clerk in Robinson's drug store, where the famous argument on evolution of modern times began, painted in large white letters on the window pane: "Judge Gore refuses to grant injunction."

The new trial, which was a heart-felt cheer in Dayton, where townsfolk, with all their preparations for receiving and entertaining visitors at the trial of John T. Scopes, had spent an anxious 24 hours.

News Reaches Dayton.

Dayton received the news of its victory over those who would take its trial away by long-distance telephone last night from Chattanooga. There was no demonstration, only a feeling of vast relief.

With the horrible spectre of losing the trial dispelled, the town focused its attention on preliminary to the event, now three days away. John Thomas Scopes, the defendant, was due back here today with his counsel, John R. Neal. Clarence Darrow and his associates are expected Thursday.

Four witnesses were subpoenaed today, as students in Scopes' class at the local high school. They will testify against him, as they did when Scopes was indicted.

City fathers drafted traffic regulations to cope with the expected crowds. They authorized the reopening of Main and principal tributary streets to insure free flow of traffic, unhindered by crowds walking in the highways. The panel of jurymen chosen yesterday to furnish the 12 men to try Scopes was generally regarded as being pretty well fundamentalist in its leanings. The greater number of them are Methodists, with Baptists next.

COOKEVILLE IS NO LONGER IN LIMELIGHT. COOKEVILLE, Tenn., July 7.—Cookeville has had its hour in the limelight and Dayton's fame—and probably its money—has been saved.

At the proceedings late yesterday, which drew attention to this hitherto obscure little town, Federal Judge John I. Gore refused to grant an injunction against the trial of the Scopes evolution case in the state courts at Dayton.

By his ruling, he assured the opening of the Scopes case at Dayton—which means so much to the little town—and opened and closed quiet Cookeville's hour of public attention.

DARROW WILL NOT ASK POSTPONEMENT. CHICAGO, July 7.—"We will not ask for a postponement of the Scopes trial at Dayton," Clarence Darrow, one of the chief attorneys for the defense in the evolution case, told the United Press today. "We will let the trial go ahead as scheduled."

ASSESSMENT ROLL DROPS 5 MILLIONS

Grand Total Valuation In Orange County $162,205,505, Report Reveals

REDUCTION EXPLAINED

Ten Per Cent Cut in Buildings and Orchard Trees Hurt by Frost Is Notable

(By United Press)

ORANGE COUNTY'S 1925 assessment roll, as delivered by Assessor James Sleeper to the county board of equalization today, showed a grand total valuation of $162,205,505 for all forms of personal property, including the tax exempt and that taxed by the state.

The figure is approximately $5,000,000 below the total assessed valuation for 1924, which was $167,205,505. A cut of 10 per cent upon buildings and upon orchard trees damaged by frost last winter, as allowed by the assessor this year, explains the reduced valuation, Sleeper states. There was also a slight reduction of oil valuation, he announced, production having slumped somewhat from last year's volume.

Increase From Building

A large portion of the reduction resulting from lower tree and building assessments was made up by new building operations and the addition of bearing fruit acreage during the year, but advance in this respect did not quite "take up the slack," the assessor roll indicates.

Assessed valuations of the various school districts and cities of the county, as set forth on the roll, do not give complete totals, Sleeper said, thus explaining the generally lower totals as compared to last year's valuations. This is explained, according to Sleeper, by the fact that the unsecured personal property roll, amounting to $26,326,130, and the "mixed" roll, amounting to $12,157,600, have not yet been segregated among the districts. The bulk of the former roll will be spread among the oil districts, thus more noticeably increasing their totals. A noteworthy example of this is the Huntington Beach school district, which shows, one the face of the current assessment roll, a drop in valuation from $29,027,980 last year to only $4,934,985 this year. A large share of the $26,000,000 unsecured personal property assessment is, however, to be apportioned to that district.

S. A. School Reduction

Santa Ana city and elementary school districts, the boundaries of which are identical, have a reduction of more than $1,000,000 in assessed valuation, the comparison being $17,988,215 and $16,766,345. Other cities have similar reductions, the most severe drop being made by Fullerton, which went from $11,570,880 last year down to $7,874,615 this year. A considerable portion of this apparent drop is fictitious, in the case of Fullerton, which, being an oil district, will eventually be credited with a material addition from the roll of unsecured personal property.

Anasheim was cut from $7,825,085 to $7,289,365. Orange dropped from $5,127,775 to $4,965,155. Huntington Beach city was reduced from $9,907,810 to $3,274,720, with a large credit from unsecured personal property assessments to be added to this year's total. Brea went from $1,225,345 down to $765,215, much of this reduction also being false. La Habra was cut from $1,000,000 to $750,000.

WILBUR VIEWS QUAKE ZONE AT SANTA BARBARA

(By United Press)

SANTA BARBARA, July 7.—Santa Barbara was host to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today. After an inspection of the harbor and quake zone today following the death of Jim West, marshal of needles.

West died yesterday from wounds received a week ago in a gun battle with Slater and Brown. The gunmen, it is claimed, opened fire on the marshal when he sought to arrest them. A bullet in the head proved fatal.

The two escaped, but later were arrested at Needles.

2 Gunmen Held For Killing City Marshal

SAN BERNARDINO, July 7.—Jack Slater, 26, Chicago gangster, and James Brown, 27, were held here on a charge of murder today following the death of Jim West, marshal of needles.

West died yesterday from wounds received a week ago in a gun battle with Slater and Brown. The gunmen, it is claimed, opened fire on the marshal when he sought to arrest them. A bullet in the head proved fatal.

The two escaped, but later were arrested at Needles.

WHERE TO DRAW LINE ON DANCE AND CARDS PUZZLE TO CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

KILL DEPUTY IN FIGHT AND BALK POSSE

Desperado Gang Breaks Cordon of 30 Officers in Vicinity of Watsonville

ARREST TWO SUSPECTS

Sheriff and Aide Shot in Legs During Battle with Gang of Booze Outlaws

(By United Press)

WATSONVILLE, Calif., July 7.—Breaking through a ring of 30 deputy sheriffs, a band of rum runners escaped near here today, after killing Deputy N. N. Rader, and wounding two other officers.

The desperadoes slipped through the cordon just before daylight, after they had been surrounded for four hours in a hay field, holding off the officers with a rapid-fire gun.

An automobile and two trucks were confiscated, but another truck filled with liquor escaped. Two men were arrested on suspicion.

A coast guard cutter is patrolling the shore line to prevent the liquor runners from reaching their boat off the bay.

Sheriff W. A. Oyer and State Traffic Officer Henry Livingston were shot through the legs.

The booze band's casualties are not known. With the machine-gun mounted on an automobile, the desperadoes kept the officers at bay during the night.

Shortly after daybreak, Chief of Police Robert L. Hastings, of Watsonville, reported but little change in the situation. He said there were 30 regular and special officers surrounding the hay field in which the liquor band has made a stand.

The besieged law-breakers were hiding in and about their armored automobile, while the machine-gun or rapid-fire rifle, with which it was equipped, swept the vicinity.

Sheriff Oyer was taken to a Salinas hospital and Livingston was brought here.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD AT SALINAS

SALINAS, Calif., July 7.—Two men were in custody here today, picked up on the highway by officers near the scene of the engagement between liquor runners and officers near Moss Landing, this morning, which resulted in the fatal wounding of N. N. Rader, local merchant and Spanish-American war veteran.

One gave the name of John May. The other refused to disclose his identity.

Information received here said the rum running ship, expected to land a cargo at Moss Landing, did not appear. Officers now are patrolling the highway.

CONSIDERABLE surprise was expressed when it was learned that Sargent, the greatest portrait painter and one of the great artists of his generation, who could choose what he pleased and always have commissions, left for a fortune of only $125,000. That was, to be sure, ten times as much as might be left by a teacher or poet of equal distinction; but it was ten times less than would be left by a manufacturer or merchant far less successful.

There are, for instance, seventy-five men in America who returned incomes ten times as much per year as Sargent's entire fortune. There are probably twenty thousand ten times as rich as he was. And there was only one Sargent, with no peer.

The difference is that Sargent left behind him other things that will live forever. These seventy-five million-a-year plutocrats might spend themselves in vain, now, to own one of his masterpieces and so long as men paint, Sargent's masterful technique will remain the envy of artists.

So long as men see meaning in human faces and forms, Sargent's canvases will hang on famous walls, to illuminate the meaning of a few thousands, or hundred thousands more, he could have made for the asking. He preferred the joy of achievement, and the accomplishment of works that are immortal.

STATISTICS of juvenile crime are frightening critics of the degeneracy of the age. But it may not be so bad as the figures indicate. There has always been juvenile "crime." The difference is that now it gets into the record.

When you stole watermelons, in your youth, the only risk was being caught by the farmer, with a pitchfork. Now the city gangster who steals junk gets into the juvenile court. When life is simple and there was plenty of room all sorts of things could happen. Now, life is too crowded and too complicated for unruly youth. Every time youth jumps over the line it bumps something. There are more bumps; but it by no means follows that there are more jumps.

ALL the cartoonists represent the children as rejoicing at the summer's release from hated school. Of course they do. They are free. Yet why should children hate school? Because it makes them learn? But children do not hate learning. They are eager for it, everywhere else. Because it is confining? If confinement is unnatural for children, why should schools confine them? There are other ways. Because they are lazy? They will work twice as hard, all summer, and yell for more.

Perhaps it is because schools are adult-made. They have given the children what the grown-ups thought was good for them, on total depravity theory. If it were possible to make children's schools childish; to teach them by utilizing their natural eagerness to learn; to use instead of suppressing their natural activity; to make school a part of their life, instead of an untimely promonition of adult life—perhaps the children would be as glad to go to school as they now are to get out. And they might learn more.

FOREIGN observers, noting that business is attracting more of the able men of America to government, see hope in the multitude of graduates now being turned out by our high schools and colleges. They cannot conceive of so vast an educated citizenship that will not include enough leaders devoted to public affairs and enough servers to follow them interestedly, intelligently and critically.

When education was the special privilege of the few, and these could not constitute a political aristocracy as they did in other countries, but could constitute something as advantageous in business naturally, aristocratic education did not contribute democratic leadership. But now, when education is the common right of all, and multitudes are enjoying it, there is hope that it will contribute to democracy the interest and sense of responsibility which has been its chief lack.

There are miles and miles of loose cakes of ice and a great many icebergs.

Peary here—(Stopped transmission and did not resume.)

(The breaking off of the above dispatch received by the navy department does not indicate that the explorers have met with mishaps, navy department officials believed today. It was thought that aerial disturbances prevented the full message from being received by the Plymouth amateur who forwarded it to the navy department.)

ENGINEER ON STAND IN EL CAPITAN FEUD

Attorneys for the city of San Diego today prefaced their efforts to break down testimony regarding the value of El Capitan dam site, as represented by La Mesa Irrigation district witnesses, by attacking the estimate of $800,000 given by Thomas King, irrigation district engineer.

T. B. Cosgrove, special city counsel, subjected King to a grill-ing cross-examination, in which the attorney sought to show that property adjacent to the El Capitan tract had recently changed hands at figures below the valuation given by King.

He called King's attention to the purchase, by the city, of 500 acres situated just above El Capitan, at a price not exceeding $50 an acre.
King's valuation was $120 per acre. He also asked King if the latter knew that the Ray property, adjacent to El Capitan, had been sold to Col. Ed Fletcher at a price below what Ray had asked from the city.

King's reply that he didn't consider the examples cited as material because different circumstances and conditions might exist, led to a suggestion by Cosgrove that if a city had made known its intention to secure a site for some improvement, that announcement might influence a change in the price of the property sought.

"Would such an announcement cause the owner of the property to raise his price or lower it?"
Cosgrove inquired. "That would depend on the sort of person the owner was," answered King.

"If he was a fair and honest man," Cosgrove proposed.
As the witness hesitated, a defense attorney whispered an objection: "There's no such man."

"The evidence in this case might justify us in such an assumption," retorted Cosgrove.

The showing of necessity for the city to condemn the entire El Capitan tract, instead of just that portion needed for flooding by the reservoir, was completed yesterday.

DELAY VERDICT IN CHINESE SLAYING

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The state department is withholding judgment on the killing of a Chinese in Shanghai by C. Disick, an American sailor, until a complete report is available after the inquest. A British assessor and a Chinese magistrate will hear the evidence.

The following state department announcement was made on the basis of a preliminary report by American Consul General Edwin S.
Cincham, at Shanghai:

"C. Disick, boatswain's mate attached to the American landing forces, while inspecting boats in the Hong Kew (in the international settlement) shot a Chinese, who later died in a hospital. From the U. S. naval report, it appears that Disick went to the assistance of a military police constable who had arrested an agitator and was being attacked by a mob. The policeman's revolver had been taken and he was being attacked from behind at the time Disick interfered."

Minister MacMurray sailed from Shanghai on an American destroyer late Sunday for Tien Tsin, on his way to Peking, the department announced.

German Minister Is Real Humorist

BERLIN, July 7.—Germany's adroit foreign minister, Gustav Stresemann, has just advanced a new definition of a statesman.
At the weekly tea, at which Mr.
Stresemann discusses outstanding event of the hour with foreign correspondents, he referred to a report of his recent Reichstag speech in the London Daily Telegraph.

"The Daily Telegraph," said Mr.
Stresemann, "called my speech the most tedious in the annals of the German parliament."

"When I read this, I said to myself, 'Gustav, you're making amazing progress. You have emerged from mere politician to statesman!'"

Stresemann concluded, "I am justly filled with pride. The gift of being tedious is the essence of great statesmanship."

WHEN Vic Walker moves out, I move in, after a flock of alterations have been attended to—and the whole town will know about this new store, too. But that's another story. I'd like to start that new store with an entirely new stock. Not that there are any flies on my present stock, because I haven't any old stuff. But just the same I am cutting prices so deep it makes me weep when I think about it. Not just a little slash here and there to see how you like it, but cuts that make the Culebra Cut look like a pin scratch.
No teasers, just straight out-and-out, take-em-or-leave-em bargains! All this fuss starts tomorrow. If it gets too crowded we'll let you out the back door!

A WORD OF COMFORT
 Much which aches you in the world is a mirage or a figment of the imagination, the projection of your own desires, and the seeker is foredoomed to disappointment.

God offers you that which is real and which will bring refreshment for your weariness, new strength to meet your needs.

What the world promises deludes you and then fades; what God provides will endure and will satisfy. Seek what He provides.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

CONCERNING CUFFS
 Shades of Christopher Columbus and all the other illustrious discoverers who discovered that it had already been discovered when they discovered it! Or, as Kipling sang in "Barrack-Room Ballads," "When 'Omer smote 'is blooming lyre, he'd 'eard 'em sing by land an' sea; an' what he thought 'e might require, 'e went an' took 'em same as we." Men who are continually looking for something radically new in style will not find it, for it cannot be produced. The limitations of men's dress do not permit any but slight changes in cloth and cut, though there is no limit to the novelties in pattern and color. A case in point—the cuffs on your shirt. Years ago, only the single cuff was in vogue for every type of shirts, day and evening. Then came the double or French cuff, which superseded the single one for all but evening clothes. Now the single cuff has been revived and although it will never reach its old-time popularity, it lends a pleasing effect of variety to men's dress.

Three sorts of shirt-cuffs are illustrated here. The topmost one is the single, square-cornered type. The center one is the double French cuff having the corners of the outer fold decidedly rounded off. The bottom one is the conventional double cuff seen on most town shirts, but now little used on sporting shirts. Here they have given way to the snugger or barrel cuff, which fits closely and fastens with one or two pearl buttons. This is by far the most practical and comfortable type for golf and tennis.

Let your memory stray back to the days when cuffs were separable and marriages were not. You will recall the reversible cuff that was supposed to do double duty at a single price. Happily, this sort of thing is done with for good and for our good. They are indispensable during hot weather to keep a man clean, cool and fit. Never put on the same suit two days in succession. Never wear a shirt or collar twice unless it has been laundered.

The fastidious man assumes a fresh undersuit every morning and every evening, too, if the day has been uncommonly oppressive. He owns two or three straw hats to wear in rotation. He changes his hose and shoes daily. He does this not only because he wants to be well dressed, but because he must be well-groomed. This goes deeper than mere appearance. It expresses that punctilious nicety of person which is to mere style breeding.

WHAT COUNCIL DID

QUICK-SETTING CEMENT TO BE USED IN WORK

The city council last night took action approving the use of quick-setting cement in replacement of pavement cut open for trenches for installation by public utilities, and directed the city attorney to prepare at once an ordinance providing for the use of this material.

The present ordinance requires public utilities, in replacing pavement, to use the same type of material as in the original pavement.

By use of the new material, it is possible to use a street within 24 hours after repair is made. It was pointed out by members of the council that its use would prevent tying up a street for a long time, cement concrete heretofore requiring 21 days for setting.

The order for use of the quick-setting cement came up in connection with replacement of pavement on Orange avenue, where the Southern Counties Gas company has been doing work. Refilling of the trench and repaving work was started today.

Incidentally, J. C. Hayden, local district manager for the company, announced that the company contemplated new lines on Fourth street, from Birch to Mortimer, and he advised that, by use of the new paving material, it would be possible for the company to do the work without seriously interfering with traffic on the principal business streets.

Popcorn Stands Will Be Put Under Ban

Popcorn stands must disappear from the street corners of Santa Ana.

That the city council is going to stand pat on a previous decision not to re-allow new licenses for such stands after July 1, was indicated by refusal of the council last night to grant a request of O. F. Smith for permission to operate a stand on the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Fourth and Buena streets.

Officers have been instructed to notify vendors that they must obey the previous order of the governing body.

COUNCIL PUTS BAN ON SALE OF FIREWORKS

Sale and explosion of fireworks in Santa Ana are things of the past, for the council last night adopted an ordinance prohibiting merchants handling the explosives.

Alvin E. Johnson, certified accountant, was given the contract for auditing the books of the city for a year, the expense not to exceed $600.

As chairman of the house committee, George McPhee was authorized to secure seats at the bandstand at Birch park, where the Santa Ana band soon will open its series of weekly concerts in the evening.

Councilman C. H. Chapman was given permission to leave the state. The councilman and his family will depart the early part of next week for an automobile tour of the northwest.

Court Notes

W. I. "Red" Nicols, of Santa Ana, was in the county jail today, awaiting arraignment in superior court on a charge of grand larceny, having been held to answer by Justice K. E. Morrison for the alleged theft of a $1000 automobile from Fred W. Robertson, Santa Ana.

Testimony produced at the hearing today was to the effect that Nicols appeared at a service station at Fourth and Grand streets, traded some stolen automobile tools for three gallons of gas, and reappeared later to exchange a part of a radio set for five gallons of gas and 75 cents, saying he wanted the price of a meal. The stolen car was finally recovered by Motorcycle Officer L. E. Hurd, of Orange.

Nichols is held in jail in default of $2000 bail.

Left Fire Burning
 Pleading guilty to a charge of leaving a camp fire burning in Trabuco canyon, A. L. Tapp paid a $50 fine in Justice K. E. Morrison's court late yesterday. Forest Ranger C. W. Seacy filed the complaint.

Issues Bench Warrant
 Justice K. E. Morrison today issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Lee Turner, Los Angeles, who failed to appear for trial on a charge of reckless driving.

Turner's trial, originally set for June 10, was postponed at his request until yesterday. In the meantime he is said to have dismantled a service station he conducted in Los Angeles and disappeared.

Given Jail Sentence
 M. Melandze was in the county jail today serving out a fine of $25 at the rate of a day for each dollar at the rate of a day for each dollar. He pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of being drunk. Justice Morrison imposed sentence.

Liquor Trial Delayed
 The second trial of Mr. and Mrs. George Stahl, of Seal Beach, in connection with a charge of having liquor in their possession, was postponed by Justice K. E. Morrison to July 27. An important witness could not be found today.

At their first trial some weeks ago, the jury disagreed, standing evenly divided on the question of guilt.

The Stahl's home was raided January 31 by officers who claimed that the defendants hastily poured liquor into the kitchen sink, seeking to destroy the evidence. Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, seized a wrench and disconnected the drain pipe elbow, catching the liquid.

HOUSE MOVING POLICY HIT AT COUNCIL MEET

House movers and the general policy of moving old houses from one location to another in the city, and bringing old structures from country districts into the city, came in for a round of criticism by the city council last night.

House movers were criticised for alleged carelessness and for asserted disregard of the rights of others in the process of moving a building over public streets. In stances were cited where trees had been needlessly damaged, and where the dwellings were permitted to stand on the street longer than seemed necessary.

Protest was made against the moving of old shacks from the country into the city on the ground that too frequently they are moved into a district where good improvements exist.

Z. B. West Jr., city attorney, was instructed to draft an ordinance requiring house movers in future to secure permission direct from the city council before they undertake to move a building. Under the present ordinance, permission is secured from the building inspector. The new ordinance also will provide for an inspector on house moving jobs. The inspector will be appointed by the council and his salary will be paid by the house mover.

NEW RULING HAS NO EFFECT HERE

Orange county schools will not be affected by a recent ruling of Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb, to the effect that county boards of supervisors fixing the tax rate on elementary or high school properties cannot take into account unexpended balance, it was stated today by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

In this connection, the county superintendent added that it has never been the practice of the supervisors to take into account unexpended balance in fixing the tax rate for school purposes.

According to advice received by the superintendent's office, this phase of the school tax problem has been widely discussed over the state. State officials are understood to fear that too strict economy measures might be resorted to by county officials in an effort to reduce the part the county must bear in the educational program, that of meeting the $30 a pupil rate, which the state provided.

Mitchell declared that Orange county is not only meeting these requirements, but its appropriations for public education have always been in excess of the minimum requirements of the state.

The ruling of the state attorney general was directed to the district attorney of Glenn county. It was added that in instances where county supervisors fail to meet the tax requirements of the state, no state money is allowed by the Sacramento authorities.

Thus procuring what is alleged to be a quantity of liquor.

"Doctor" Faces Trial
 H. G. Russell, proprietor of a sanitarium at Buena Park, was today awaiting prosecution in the superior court on a charge of practicing medicine without a state license. He was held to answer by Justice K. E. Morrison at preliminary hearing of the case late yesterday.

Claiming that he is a chiropractor and osteopath, licensed in an eastern state, Russell also contends that he was not practicing medicine at Buena Park. He called his practice therapy.

Witnesses appearing against him at the hearing were Nellie Salzman, Rachel Smith, Jennie Cromwell and Constable Jesse Elliott. The state introduced in evidence a bag of instruments and a glass sign plate.

Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin appeared for the state. Russell was defended by Attorney John A. Holland, Los Angeles.

BOY SCOUTS' CORNER

CAMP ROKILI SCOUTS STILL BALL CHAMPS

Fourth of July was spent in quiet restful celebration with two ball games and three swims to enliven the day, at the county Boy Scout camp in the San Bernardino mountains.

The Rokili ball squad, captained by Anthony Mollica, still remains champion over all the camps surrounding Rokili, they having won every game played so far.

Saturday morning a game was played with the Los Angeles county Y. M. C. A. group, and one of those who witnessed the game was Ralph Cole, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, who praised very highly the beauty of Rokili. Saturday afternoon, another game was played with San Bernardino county Boy Scouts, who have a camp just half a mile above the Orange County Scout camp.

A campfire program in the evening of the Fourth was featured by stunts and a number of songs by Robert L. Brown, of Santa Ana. A road marshmallow feed closed the program.

Other visitors at the camp over the Fourth were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Newcomb, of Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Parks, of Fullerton. The last big activity of camp was scheduled for Monday, when a one-day hike was to be made to the top of Mt. Anderson, which is

A peak rising to a 10,000-foot elevation just back of Camp Rokili, Scouts will return from the first period today. The second period will open Wednesday morning.

LONG HIKE IS MADE BY CAMP ROKILI SCOUTS

Immediately after the sunrise cannon had sounded at Camp Rokili, last Tuesday, the entire camp personnel with food and utensils packed aboard sturdy burros, left on a four-day hike. The scouts' first objective was Dry Lake, 10,000 feet above sea level. A journey to the top of Southern California, on Mount San Geronimo, commonly called Gray Back, also was made. From Dry Lake, the scouts hiked around to the base of Mount Rokili, to Dollar lake, where few persons have ever been.

It was on the shore of this lake last year that scouts found the fresh skins of three deer and proceeded to track the poachers who had killed them. They were finally located after two days, and reported to the forestry officials, who caused their arrest.

After camp had been made, every scout cooking his own food, making his own bed and caring for himself, a good night's rest was enjoyed. Early Thursday morning, the entire camp group, with the exception of one scout who had a sore toe and another who remained to take care of him, climbed Mount Rokili. Guy H. Benton, formerly scoutmaster at Yorba Linda, was the first to return to camp, having made the record of going to the top of Rokili and back in one hour, taking 50 minutes for the trip up and 10 minutes for the down journey.

Snow banks extended clear to the edge of Little Dollar lake, and account for the rapid trip down.

Upon arriving in camp, Benton found that infection had set in on the toe of the boy who had been left behind, so by means of a pack burro and car, the boy was brought down, given treatment and taken to his home that night.

Every precaution is taken in camp to prevent illness of any kind, but if serious illness does occur, facilities are maintained for giving medical attention immediately.

The remainder of the scouts enjoyed the beauty of this isolated mountain country, returning to Camp Rokili late Friday afternoon, completing one of the most interesting and longest hikes that any group has ever attempted from Rokili.

Raising of Rare Rabbits Started

MOOSJAW, Sack, July 7. — Howard Smith, a railway man of this city, has started something new in Canada in the way of farming, the raising of chinchilla rabbits for the commercial trade.

Chinchilla rabbits are small and blue gray and about the size of squirrels. The pelts sell from $3.50 to $10, and chinchilla wraps bring from $10,000 to $15,000.

These rabbits are found naturally only on the eastern slopes of the Andes mountains in Chile, Peru, and Bolivia. They are small hopping animals and make deep burrows in the ground, especially between rocks. They eat almost anything and thrive in cold weather.

SCOUTS ASSIST DURING IOWA WATER FAMINE

Suppose you went to draw your bath at 8 o'clock some fine morning and heard a splutter from the faucet, but no water came? Suppose you hurried downstairs to tell your mother and found her standing in the street people collecting in anxious groups and wondering what had happened. No water for thirsty horses toiling down hot streets. No water downtown for the big steam engines. Fear growing almost into a panic with the thought of fire.

Helpless the city lay on that long, hot morning.

That was the situation that confronted Boy Scouts in Marshalltown, Ia., on June 5. Somewhere in the suction line from the city tanks to the well field, there was a leak. At 6 o'clock one night the city was entirely cut off from its water supply. It awoke next morning to real peril. Water was pumped into hydrants from the river by the fire company, but this water was unfit for drinking. It had to be carefully sterilized. However, the townspeople must drink.

Then the Boy Scouts did their good turn. As fast as the sterilized water could be hauled in tanks to convenient places in the streets, the boys mounted guard. They worked in three-hour shifts, handling the crowds, protecting the open top of the tank with cloth covers from impurities, keeping the condition sanitary around the

Church Secretary Asphyxiates Self

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Miss Jessie Dugleby, 35, secretary of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, committed suicide in her apartment yesterday by inhaling gas, according to a police report. Miss Dugleby's landlady found the body with a gas tube in the mouth. Police were unable to determine a probable motive for the suicide.

WILL STUDY MOVE FOR INDEPENDENCE

MANILA, P. I., July 7.—Declaring they are seeking fullest information regarding the movement for Philippine independence, a party of congressmen, headed by Congressman Beggs, senior Republican, and Crisp, senior Democrat, arrived here yesterday.

An enthusiastic welcome greeted the visitors, here for six days' stay. Filipino politicians are expected to attack Governor General Wood during the discussions which will intersperse the varied entertainment schedule arranged. The party will proceed to China from here to study the revolutionary situation in that country.

This guard duty was continued until the leak was repaired and Marshalltown returned to normalcy.

Rivalry Between Cities Resumed

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Good-natured rivalry between this city and Oakland, which used to take the slogan, "San Francisco sleeps in Oakland," today had its new battle cry.

"Oakland shaves in San Francisco," is the way it's being said now.

And all because Oakland barbers raised their prices and San Francisco tonsorial artists did not.

R. E. Miles Retires from the Miles Shoe Company R. R. Miles to Be Sole Owner

STATEMENT BY R. E. MILES

After fifteen years of activity in the shoe business in Santa Ana I feel that it is time for me to RETIRE. During the period from 1910, the time we first started here, until the present, my business relations with the shoe buying public has been most pleasant. My son, R. R. Miles, has taken over my interest in the Miles Shoe Co., and will operate the business in the future.

Thanking every one of our customers for their patronage in the past and trusting every one will continue to buy shoes at Miles', I am,

Very truly yours,

R. E. MILES.

STATEMENT BY R. R. MILES

For the past 15 years I have been interested with my father, R. E. Miles, in the Miles Shoe Company. I have seen the business grow from year to year.

My father wished to retire from active business and I have taken over his interests.

In the future the policies of the Miles Shoe Company will be just the same as in the past. You will be assured of getting the same high quality merchandise—the same courteous treatment—the same reasonable prices for good quality shoes.

Trusting that you will call on us when you need shoes or hosiery, I am,

Yours truly

Use Lemons to Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard-White, which any druggists will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Patriotic Birthday Gaily Celebrated At Beach

Such a happy group of children shared in the patriotic birthday of one of their playmates, little Miss Marion Schoettler, daughter of the H. J. Schoettlers of 313 South Garvey street, when Mrs. Schoettler planned a beach party for her small daughter. At the delicious out-door dinner served at Balboa, favors consisted of small flags and gay little red baskets filled with red, white and blue candies. In addition each child was presented with a small toy appropriate to the date, such as Old Glory caps, miniature fireworks, small pistols and other articles which they found most attractive. Little Miss Marion shared delightfully in the gift giving too, for she received countless pretty presents from her guest playmates.

In the afternoon the youngsters enjoyed the usual beach pleasures coupled with paddling in the water and attempts at swimming. Marion's guests were little Elizabeth Wallace of Long Beach, Dorothy Smith, Irene Moore and John Thomas Schoettler of Los Angeles; Jack Horton and Billy Byrne, her two little brothers, Bobby and Donald Schoettler, also her two older brothers, Eugene and Roy Schoettler. Grown-up guests were Miss Freda Schoettler, Charles Passmore, Arthur Schoettler, the little honoree's aunt, Mrs. Emma Schoettler, and uncle, Joe Schoettler, all from Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Maranda of Orange, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Schoettler.

Garden Party Given For White Shrine

Under softly shaded Japanese lanterns, twinkling among the trees, in a tropical setting of gorgeous cannas, dahlias and roses, nearly half a hundred members and friends of Damascus White Shrine enjoyed a most delightful garden party recently at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Cleland, 1010 North Broadway. The host, Dr. Cleland, is the Shrine's faithful "Watchman of Shepherds" while Mrs. Cleland is flag bearer. Their hospitality quite equalled their faithfulness in office and provided a happy evening indeed for their guests. A succession of lively games under the direction of Mrs. Marie Beisel and Miss Pearl Nicholson kept pace with Victrola music. As the evening hours waned, the guests repaired to the spacious rooms of the home where the garden effect was achieved by the lavish use of flowers and where the remainder of the evening was devoted to whist. Mrs. Bertha Wolfson and Albert Miller registered high score and received first prizes while Mrs. Miller and L. B. Pearl scored low and received consolation gifts. Following the prize award, Dr. and Mrs. Cleland utilized the card tables for serving enjoyable refreshments.

Sunday Night Musicales Delights Guest Group

The lovely Marcy Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith was the scene of a Sunday night musicale sponsored by Madame Manuela V. Budrow and enjoyed by an appreciative and congenial group of friends.

Of special interest was the presence of E. Wondama, a remarkably pleasing tenor of Los Angeles, introduced by Madame Budrow. Mr. Wondama proved to have a voice of rare richness and resonance, and the ease with which he sang the high C sharp was matter for delighted comment by the guests. His repertoire of over 300 songs includes selections from the best operas of Wagner, Puccini, Verdi and others.

Sharing guest and program honors with the soloist was Kurt Mueller, a brilliant pianist also from Los Angeles. His selections added immeasurably to the pleasure of the program. Enjoyable too were vocal numbers given by Miss Elizabeth Siegel, Robert Bradford and the host, Mr. Smith.

The musical interval was followed by an enjoyable social hour marked by friendly chat over an appetizing refreshment menu deftly served by Mrs. Smith.

Surprise Developments At Friendly Party In Brown Home

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Brown greeted a group of friends at a happily planned bridge party last night at their charming new home on West Nineteenth street, there was a general air of mystery, apparent, for both hosts and guests were in readiness to spring a surprise.

Seemingly it was a gathering of "The Friendly Bridge club" of which Mrs. Brown is a member, together with the husbands who seldom have the pleasure of meeting with the group as sessions are usually afternoon events. Bridge was introduced as usual and Mrs. Brown chose to tally scores of husbands and wives together with the result that high honors went to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gilbert, second to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Haan and low to Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sylvester. The gifts were exquisite flower bowls and were presented at the refreshment hour.

For this pleasant interval, Mrs. Brown arranged her card tables with lovely linens and served a two course supper, the salad course followed by ices and sweets where the hosts sprung their cherished surprise by announcing that the date marked their twenty-seventh wedding anniversary. The event was hinted at in the ice cream which bore yellow wedding bells in the center of each slice. With it was served bride's cake and slices of delicious groom's cake wrapped in tissue and ribbons and bearing small white cards with the lettering, "Charles and Edith, 1898-1925."

But the guests too had a surprise all their own, and after the hosts had responded to congratulations and happy wishes, Mr. Pittner, as spokesman for the group, presented the surprised pair with a handsome serving tray of silver-verrimented mahogany and crystal. The fact of the anniversary had become known in some way late in the afternoon, and the bridge club members made last minute plans to celebrate. Hence the surprise gift which gave such pleasure to the donors and to its recipients as well. Another lovely courtesy was from the young people of the Brown family, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown and Paul Brown who gave their parents a handsome silk floor pillow and a pair of candlesticks.

The young people, aided by Miss Hazel Isenberg, proved adept in the art of serving and relieved Mrs. Brown of that part of her hostess duties. Later in the evening they joined in dancing after rugs had been rolled and furnished pushed back. Several old-fashioned dances were included in the gay program, the Virginia Reel being especially enjoyable and very lovely against the wealth of flowers which decked the home.

Enjoying the happy celebration with Mr. and Mrs. Brown were the club members and their better halves, Messrs. and Mesdames Frank Pittner, W. R. Sylvester, Elton R. Roehm, W. L. Salisbury, Asa Hoffman, A. N. Zerman, A. G. Flagg, G. P. Campbell, Alvin Nowotny, Charles Cogan and Charles Artz together with a few guests including Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Olfarr, Guy Gilbert, Otto Haan, Sam Jernigan, Dr. and Mrs. Paul A. M. Brown, and the Misses Hazel Isenberg and Cora Kuhle and Messrs Paul Brown and Lyman Tremain.

First July Program Of Business Girls Full of Interest

July's entertainment committee of the Business and Professional Women launched its four weeks of programs in a most interesting manner yesterday at St. Ann's Inn at the Monday luncheon of the service club, by introducing Frances Burr Woody, lecturer and practical business woman. Mrs. Woody proved to possess a most pleasing personality and was a fluent and interesting speaker who pointed out to the assembled business women, the necessity of co-operation as a means of growth. She spoke of how early opinions of women were absolutely opposed to a fear of what their competition might bring, but that all such ideas had been changed by the women themselves.

To business, the speaker credited the system and sense of organization that has made the women invaluable in the business world and yet has improved home life because methods learned outside the home have been applied to its government. She also dwelt upon the three powers absolutely essential to correct results in business: magnetic power, intellectual power and will power, and outlined her own methods of developing them. These methods, Mrs. Woody will expound in a series of Tuesday night lectures to be given at St. Ann's Inn for five weeks beginning with July 14.

Miss Martha Whitson, presiding, called for the usual introduction of guests with the unusual result of but one introduction, that of Miss Hazel Salisbury who bore guest honors alone instead of seeing them shared between half a dozen as is usually the case. Mrs. Helen Stedman, chairman of the program committee delighted the members by her announcement that a former member, Miss Kathleen Owens, would be next Monday's speaker and would talk on her year in Honolulu.

Daughter Receives Golden Wedding Story

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Brough of 2003 Kilson Drive, have received interesting accounts of the golden wedding celebration of Mrs. Brough's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Ogden of Ontario who were entertained at the Fort Mason home of their son, Master Sergeant Paul O. Ogden, near San Francisco.

The anniversary was on Sunday, July 5 and the host, honoring his parents, entertained a group of twenty-seven members of the family, comprising children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, at an elaborate dinner.

Health Warning Eat the Right Breakfast Hot Days

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes

Supplies the energy you need

SOME people make a practice of passing vigor foods in summer. That's a mistake.

Above all things, you must eat foods that give strength. For hot days drag energy away.

For breakfast, have oats and milk.

Quick Quaker cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. And that makes it easy. No hot kitchens. No fuming, no frying, no stewing.

Start on oats tomorrow. Note how good you'll feel. Mark the way that dragged-out feeling goes.

You'll smile at hot days. You'll work better, think better. Just try it!—See the difference.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

CLOSE YEAR IN ORANGE WITH GOOD SURPLUS

ORANGE, July 7.—As a business corporation, Orange is healthy. That was aptly demonstrated with the announcement by City Clerk Cal D. Lester that the city had a surplus of $61,594.37 in the treasury when the books were closed for the fiscal year on July 1.

Every one of the 42 regular city funds closed in healthy condition, not one being in debt. Lester announced today, preparatory to presenting his annual financial report to the city council.

As a result of the economic administration of city affairs, Orange taxpayers are in a fair way to reap the benefits in reduced taxes for the coming year, it was indicated.

"Unless the city council has some special work or improvements to be done within the next year, it looks as if the tax rate may be cut," Lester said. Lester, at the same time, revealed a gain in assessed values for the city, which, it was pointed out, might mean further possibility of tax reduction over last year's figure of $1.65 per each $100 of assessed valuation.

$7,378,630 Net Valuation. The new assessment roll, just completed by Lester, shows a total net valuation of $7,378,630; upon which figure the new tax rate will be based.

This figure represents a gain of $898,215 over last year, when the assessed valuation was $6,480,415. Without deduction of tax-exempt property, the total assessed valuation for next year is $8,435,330.

The deductions include: operative property, $322,035; public property, $231,715; and soldiers' exemptions, $112,950, or a total of $1,066,700, which is tax-exempt.

The segregated assessed values for next year are as follows: real estate, $4,102,035; personal property, $322,035; improvements, $9,178,005; operative, $322,035.

Use Legal Value Basis. In compiling the assessment roll, Lester used 45 per cent of the actual value, which is the figure provided by law for arriving at the assessed values, it was declared.

Orange, therefore, is now nearly a $17,000,000 corporation, when actual values are considered. The city council will sit as a board of equalization the second Monday in August, when any protests of property owners against their assessments are to be heard. Adjustments will be made at that time after which the tax rate will be fixed the first Monday in September. The city taxes this year can be paid in two installments, the same as the system followed by the county, it was announced.

Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE, July 7.—An all-day meeting of the missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at the home of Mrs. W. M. Adland on Wednesday, July 8.

The Home Missionary society will have charge of the morning session. Reports will be given by delegates to the Home Missionary convention held in Los Angeles this week.

A luncheon will be served at the noon hour by a committee in charge.

The Foreign Missionary society will have a Christmas party in the afternoon. An election of officers will be held.

The Amman and Agos Sunday school classes of the Baptist church enjoyed a plunge party at Huntington Beach. After having a good swim, the young people had supper on the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley entertained the following guests on Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smiley and son, Deane, of Orange, and Mr. A. Smiley's sister, Mrs. O. W. Robinson, and four children, who have recently returned from the Hawaiian Islands, where they have made their home for the past eight years.

The following enjoyed a swimming party and supper at Huntington Beach recently: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley.

Mrs. B. A. Martin and daughter, Miss Carolyn, of Santa Ana, were guests of Mrs. F. P. Rosselot since Monday. They left Friday by automobile for Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Joe Williamson returned to her home in Los Angeles after spending two months in Garden Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Elliott, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Ambrose of Pasadena, left for Idyllwild, where they spent the Fourth.

56 "Y" Boys to Have Outing at Mountain Camp

FULLERTON, July 7.—Fifty-six boys from northern Orange county Y. M. C. A. left Fullerton at 8 o'clock this morning for Camp Osceola, the county "Y" camp, for a two weeks' stay under supervision of A. J. Raitt, local secretary.

A definite program has been outlined by Raitt, and will be followed through the stay, he declared. Devotional exercises and spiritual training will occupy a considerable amount of the boy's time while at the camp, according to the secretary.

Eight leaders left with the boys on the trip, going by way of San Bernardino in private cars, and then taking stages for the trip to the camp in the San Bernardino mountains.

Harry Welch Is Home Following Trip to Seattle

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County chamber of commerce, was back today from Pacific coast conferences on harbor improvements held at San Francisco and Seattle.

Welch declared the conferences of great worth for the furtherance of development of the Orange county harbor at Newport Beach. Forty port authorities of the Pacific coast attended the three day conference at San Francisco. General questions of harbor improvement were discussed. At the harbors and rivers conference at Seattle, interest was directed to the individual water projects.

Harbors along the coast were visited by Welch with the view of studying operations. During the two week trip, visits were made the harbors at Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, Portland and Long View.

Seek Honors for Girl's Act In Locating Bodies

NEWPORT BEACH, July 7.—Recognition for the heroism of Miss Axia Goodykoonz, 18-year-old lifeguard of Newport Beach, may be asked for her action in recovering the bodies of Tom and Frank Sanford, who were drowned in the bay here last Friday.

Consideration of this move was made at the meeting of the city board of trustees last night. The matter was referred to a committee of Fred W. Young and Dr. Conrad Richter.

Possibility of asking for a Carnegie medal for Miss Goodykoonz was proposed.

The act for which recognition is being suggested followed the drowning of the Sanford brothers in the 20-foot channel of the bay. She dove to the bottom and found the bodies.

the past eight years.

The following enjoyed a swimming party and supper at Huntington Beach recently: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Holt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodhouse and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smiley.

Mrs. B. A. Martin and daughter, Miss Carolyn, of Santa Ana, were guests of Mrs. F. P. Rosselot since Monday. They left Friday by automobile for Colorado Springs.

SEEK THIEVES OF TWO AUTOS AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, July 7.—Local police were conducting thorough investigations today into the actions of a number of thieves who robbed several homes here over the weekend, attempted to enter several homes, and stole two automobiles from garages while owners slept.

William Gildewit reported that on Sunday night, the thieves picked a lock on his garage, and stole a new Jewett touring car. The act was done after the Gildewit family had retired.

A similar report came from L. L. Ingram, of 312 West Whiting avenue, whose Ford touring car was quietly removed from a garage some time during Saturday night. Authorities are conducting an extensive investigation into the thefts.

Arrest Alleged Thief. Officer E. R. Rudy recovered an automobile alleged to have been stolen from E. Johanasson, in San Pedro, when he arrested William King, also of that city. King was taken in custody by San Pedro officials, and will be prosecuted there.

A small touring car, thought to have been stolen, was discovered on Hillcrest Drive by H. W. Croft, who immediately reported to police headquarters. From all appearance, the car had been there but a short time, and was stripped of all accessories. The machine was registered in the name of J. J. Nolan, of Anaheim.

Thieves attempted to enter the Jack Granz clothing store for the second time in two weeks either Saturday or Sunday night, when they bored several holes in a rear wall in an attempt to gain entrance.

Sees Man Entering Home. G. B. Hoag reported to police that he saw a man entering the home of J. G. Paul, 222 West Brookdale avenue, and called for the intruder to throw up his hands. The man ran instead, and escaped in a dark alley.

While the family was in the front yard, shooting fireworks, a thief entered the home of T. W. Little, 427 West Amerige avenue, and after ransacking the house, took a small alarm clock.

During the weekend, thieves entered the home of R. Taylor, 217 West Wilshire, taking an automatic pistol, a bathrobe and a silver tea set of considerable value. Mrs. Martin Le Force, of West Amerige, reported that a pocketbook was stolen from her home while she was in the yard.

53 Claimants to Woman's Fortune Refused Any Part

BOSTON, July 7.—Judge William M. Prest eliminated 53 of the 58 claimants to the 3 million dollar estate of Lotta Crabtree, actress of a generation ago, who died here last September. The 53 "counted out" in the fight to break the will made up a group of elderly persons scattered throughout the country who claimed to be the second and third cousins and nephews and nieces of the deceased actress.

The five remaining contenders for part of the fortune are Mrs. Ida Manning Blankenberg of Oklahoma City, Okla., who asserts she is a daughter; George Crabtree, 81, G. A. R. veteran, living in the Soldiers' home, Chelsea, who asserts he is a first cousin; Miss Minnie E. Lehmann, 42, of Albany, N. Y., alleged first cousin; Carlotta Cockburn of Cambrielle, Calif., who asserts she is a niece of the testator, and Mrs. Catherine A. Crabtree Manely, of Chicago, who also alleges to be a first cousin.

NEW THEORY IS ADVANCED IN EVOLUTION

By KEITH JONES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

LONDON, July 7.—Scientists have abandoned the idea that man descended from the monkeys. Instead, according to Prof. E. N. Poulton, secretary of the Royal Anthropological Institute, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, they are proceeding on the theory that man may have come from an ancestor prior to both monkey and man, but a common ancestor of both.

"It has been some time since scientists in general gave up the search for a 'missing link,' as the explanation of the gap between man and monkey," he said, "and they have been looking for fossil remains which historically precede both man and monkey, yet embody the characteristics of both.

"In the recent discovery of a fossil known as the 'Sivapithecus,' uncovered in the foothills of the Himalaya mountains, in India, we have indications that such a type of common ancestor to both did exist. It is too early to make any pronouncement, but further search may uncover conclusive substantiation of this theory."

TO HOLD HEARINGS ON POSTAL RATES

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Hearings of the joint congressional committee to investigate how the present postal rate law is working out and to formulate a permanent bill will be opened in Washington, July 20, Chairman Moses has announced.

Postmaster General New will be called as first witness to testify during the two-day session here as to whether the present law is providing the $60,000,000 increase of revenue thought necessary for salary increases which have been granted postal employees.

After two days in Washington, the committee will begin a tour of certain sections to hear local witnesses.

LITTLE DAYTON IN GAY ATTIRE FOR BIG TRIAL

DAYTON, Tenn., July 7.—Dayton, Tenn., has experienced one of those metamorphoses known to Shelby, Mont., and other little out-of-the-way places to which fate brings the sudden glare of the spotlight of human interest.

This little hillside town, which never knew a uniformed policeman or a more ambitious motor vehicle than a rattly four-seater of ancient vintage, where people thought they had reached the quaintness of metropolitanism when two of the fast trains each day stopped at the station, now is all dressed up and in holiday mood, preening itself in its new-found fame.

Traffic is directed by uniformed officers from Chattanooga, sent to help out the lone town marshal, whose other duties as superintendent of the street department and water works and public buildings keep him pretty busy.

Overhead, across the main street, hang banners—"Robinson's Drug Store, Where It All Started" (an allusion to Scopes' remark that the trial was the result of a "drug store argument") that got out of control, "The Best Place to Eat," "Tourist Lunch," "Park Your Car at the Ball Park" and "Western Union."

While attorneys for both sides and those most vitally interested in the outcome of the trial deplore the expression "monkey business," there is plenty of it in evidence. Shop windows are filled with monkey this and monkey that, monkey watch fobs, with "Dayton, 1925," marked on them, monkey umbrella handles, neckties with monkey designs, and so on.

Hot dog and cold drink stands line the sidewalks.

The notables of the trial, Clarence Darrow and William Jennings Bryan, are housed at opposite ends of town.

Several enterprising Chattanoogaans tried to lease the Presbyterian tabernacle to convert it into an all-night dance hall and cabaret. But the Presbyterian deacons would not hear of it. They want to serve meals in it at 75 cents a head.

SMOTHERED TO DEATH

Millionaire Must Be Tried In Texas

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—J. O. Mack, millionaire head of the Mack Furniture company, has been ordered returned to Houston, Tex., to stand trial on charges of misusing the mails.

Mack was said to have invoked "God's blessing" to influence parents to invest in his company for the benefit of their children. His "sucker list" included 5000 mothers, it was said.

U. S. Commissioner R. L. Turner ordered the removal.

Greater Mileage · Greater Power Greater Speed...Combined!

With Richfield in your tank you know you have every good quality any gasoline can give. No need to search for better, or "dope" poorly made gasolines to make up for qualities they lack. Richfield means most from every motor. Always the same wherever you go—uniform, dependable and unfailing in its combined qualities of greater speed, power and mileage!

Julius Dusevoir

MILEAGE SPEED & POWER

This is why Julius Dusevoir after testing many other gasolines selected Richfield for his officially observed Los Angeles-Yosemite High Gear run. 360 miles with only 9¾ gallons of powerful, mile-producing Richfield—an average of 36.91 miles per gallon! This is the same model stock Star touring car (sealed in high gear with top and windshield removed) that averaged less than 27 miles per gallon with another well-known brand of gasoline in the ninth Annual Los Angeles to Yosemite Economy Run on May 22nd and 23rd. This is why Charles Holdson after exhaustive tests selected Richfield above all other gasolines for his remarkable Duesenberg endurance and economy run—6000 miles in 10 days!

Richfield is the exclusive choice of the world's greatest racing drivers. Men who know gasolines by actual road, speedway and laboratory tests and who, with the choice of every gasoline made, select Richfield and depend on it year after year.

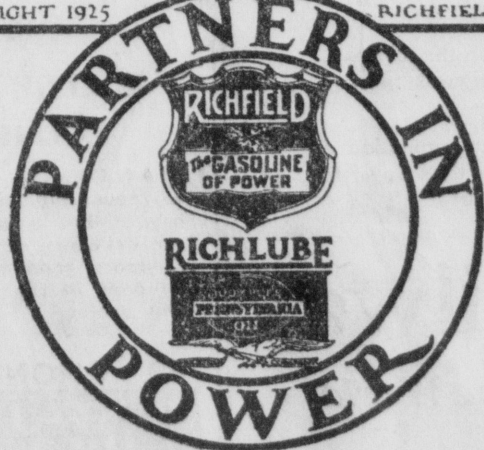

Richfield has won every A. A. A. National Championship Race but one for four consecutive years! It was in the car of Jimmy Murphy, the only American driver to win the famous French Grand Prix, and has won the great Indianapolis 500 mile speedway Classic for five consecutive years—records unequalled by any other gasoline in the world!

Every Westerner has a right to be proud of this California gasoline—its wonderful records! Made by special process by a California company from California's crudes—owned and directed by California men—it is proving its wonderful mileage and power superiority by an unbroken string of speedway victories and by its steadily increasing sales of thousands of gallons every month! Try Richfield in your own car today—note the difference!

COOLIDGE GETS 1926 ELECTION FORCES READY

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 7.—From the seclusion of his summer White House here, President Coolidge is personally marshaling the Republican forces in preparation for the congressional elections of 1926, when the party's power to hold a majority in congress will be tested.

Already his efforts have begun to bear fruit. The day he arrived on the north shore he threw his weight behind the candidacy of Mrs. John Jacob Roberts, a candidate for her late husband's seat in the special election in the Fifth Massachusetts district, and she won from her Democratic opponent by nearly 3 to 1.

More difficult is his determination to aid Senator Butler of Massachusetts, his own campaign manager, who faces the most rigorous sort of opposition in the rival candidacy of former Senator David L. Walsh. Walsh almost beat Senator Gillett in 1924, while the president was sweeping the state. His chances to beat Butler look alarming to Republican managers.

Therefore, the president is putting his prestige and popularity in Massachusetts into the fight to aid Butler. He has caused it to be emphasized on every occasion this summer that Butler is his close associate and adviser. Butler met him at the station on arrival. Butler has been photographed with him repeatedly around White Court; Butler accompanied him to Cambridge, and throughout the summer the people of Massachusetts will continue to be impressed with the idea that a vote for Butler is a vote for Coolidge.

Congressional politics, however, are not the only politics being discussed with interest during the president's summer vacation.

David Mulvane, Republican committeeman from Kansas, who is spending the summer near here, is authority for the statement that a third term for Calvin Coolidge is a certainty. Mulvane, who has been conferring with persons here close to the president, says that in 1928 "Prosperity and Coolidge" will be the issue, and that the third-term bogie will not enter into it.

CHURCHMEN MOVE TO BAN DIVORCES

NEW YORK, July 7.—A movement has started within the Episcopal church to repeal the canon adopted in 1868, which permits remarriage of divorced persons under certain conditions.

Launched by the Sanctity of Marriage association, which includes such church leaders as Bishop William T. Manning, New York, the movement will be carried directly into the Episcopal convention at New Orleans in October. The real controversy is expected on whether the church should again revert to its old laws that marriage be denied to all divorced persons.

At present, the Episcopal canons permit remarriage of the "innocent party," under certain conditions, in cases where divorce was granted on the grounds of infidelity.

The Sanctity of Marriage association asks repeal of this canon, declaring it is opposed to all the early teachings of the church, without support in any portions of the Bible.

Arctic Fliers Are Honored In Oslo

OSLO, July 7.—Capt. Roald Amundsen and his Arctic fliers, including Lincoln Ellsworth, American, are today proud holders of royal decorations for their feat in conquering the air almost to the North Pole.

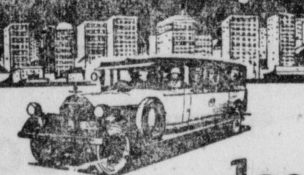

Aside from the decorations, they bear in their hearts the memory of a reception by Oslo, unprecedented in its enthusiasm.

Ellsworth shared with Amundsen the honors and plaudits of the rejoicing Norwegian capital, as the party swept in from the skies.

NAVAL WEDDING HELD IN SANTA ANA Y. M. C. A.

Many have been the various uses made of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. building since its occupation, but yesterday for the first time it furnished the setting for an important naval wedding, when Miss Mildred Ethel Brooks, of Montana, became the bride of Charles Carmine Alerio, a sailor, attached to the naval station at San Diego.

building for his regular workout in the gymnasium. The pastor had finished his turn with the Indian clubs and was ready for his dip into the plunge, when called to the information desk in the main lobby. Here it was explained that his services would be needed by a young couple who wanted him to tie the knot of matrimony.

With the aid of Secretary Ralph C. Smedley and Assistant Secretary Jasper N. Osborn, the directors' room was hastily arranged into a marriage chapel. Here, in the presence of a few shipmates, acting as witnesses, the two were made man and wife. Following the ceremony, the newlyweds went to San Diego, where they will spend their honeymoon.

LATE ACCIDENT REPORTS OF WEEK-END STILL POUR INTO OFFICE OF SHERIFF

Belated reports of traffic accidents in Orange County over the holiday week-end continue to pour into the sheriff's office.

Willard Ely, of Pomona, has reported that his car ran over a five-year-old girl on the highway near Sunset Beach Saturday morning. The right rear wheel passed over the tot's arm, breaking it. She also was said to have suffered a possible fracture of the skull.

The name of the child was not given in the report, but inquiry at the emergency hospital, Huntington Beach, elicited the information that she was Ruth Bean, of Verdugo City. The child's tongue also was badly lacerated. She is thought to have bitten it in the fright of being struck.

Given First Aid.
Mrs. F. Koller, of Los Angeles, was given first aid treatment at the beach hospital for a broken hand, the injury being incurred in a traffic accident on the ocean boulevard.

Max Cohen, of San Diego, has reported a crash, which occurred Sunday night, 10 miles north of San Juan Capistrano, in which he and a woman passenger were injured. He declares that his car was rammed and turned completely out of a long line of traffic.

Leon Penso, Los Angeles, reported a collision with an automobile driven by H. Kirkpatrick, of San Juan Capistrano, which occurred on the outskirts of that town. His son, Ralph, 7, and daughter, Sarah, 4, were slightly hurt, he said. A car drove up behind the Kirkpatrick machine and crashed into it after the first impact, the report adds.

N. C. Clair, 318 East Center street, Anaheim, was struck by a machine, the driver of which is not known, on the highway north of San Juan Capistrano Sunday night, according to an accident report on file in the sheriff's office. One person was slightly injured.

Woman Is Injured.
O. S. Hooper, 1313 East First street, declared a woman passenger in his car was slightly hurt in a crash with a truck last night near the Orange county hospital.

Two automobiles figured in a sensational crash at the corner of Main and Seventeenth streets at midnight last night, one car being turned completely over by the force of the impact. The occupants refused to give their names and no report of the accident was filed. One of the machines came east on Seventeenth at a rapid rate and crashed into an auto traveling south on Main. No one was injured, although the occupants were hurled out on to the road.

S. A. Doctor Gets Belgian Report

Dr. Harvey A. Stryker yesterday was the recipient of an extended report of the proceedings of the European Society of Orthodontists, in annual session in Belgium, in June, 1925.

The proceedings were forwarded by Dr. O. Brubrecht, professor of orthodontia in the University of Gant, who presented a lengthy paper in which he quoted freely from an illustrated essay of orthodontists in February, 1924. The essay later was published in the International Journal of Orthodontia, which publication is circulated throughout the world.

Again, last month, Dr. Stryker presented the essay, in the form of a clinic, before the annual meeting of the Southern California Dental association, held in Los Angeles.

Persians Score League for Its Aid to England

TEHERAN, Persia, July 6.—Attacks on Great Britain by the Persian press are taking a more acute form and there is more than one influence behind the scene. The newspaper Shafagh-sork questions the rights of the League of Nations, which it says was brought into being to safeguard the interests of the smaller nations. The paper calls the league a British cabinet under a different name.

The Shafagh-sork makes a sarcastic attack on parliament for not helping the government by at least a formal protest against the situation which was brought on by the league's decision regarding arms traffic control in the Gulf of Persia. It believes that parliament is more interested in the contract terms of a certain German who has been engaged to attend the country's forests than in the liberties which the league takes with one of its members.

Amazing Discoveries of Genius Is Proven by 'Writing on the Wall'

PENCILS POPULAR TELEPHONE TOOLS

Amazing Incidents of Two-fold Minds Uncovered in 'Ting-a-Ling' Shanties

For some unknown psychological reason, a person, plus a pencil, plus a telephone conversation, always equals certain hieroglyphics. If the phone is a wall phone, the faces, maps or figures are placed on the wall. If it is a desk instrument, the literary by-product of the conversation is usually composed on a nearby pad of paper.

A moment's reflection will convince most anyone that this dreamy pastime is rather common, and a little survey of the busy phone centers of Santa Ana shows that an interesting collection of sad and glad tidings can be procured from those locations. The authors of these little ballads, and much et cetera, do not care to have their names connected with their work—in fact, what happens at the telephone is considered by most Santa Ana business men as their private affairs. However, 10 telephone booths and nearly as many open phones were given the "once over" yesterday, and discoveries in art and science followed.

Signs in Booths
 In late years, the telephone company has placed signs in the former amateur art galleries, the booth, and the other, writing on one is expectation, in the booth, and the other, writing on the walls. As far as the telephone company is concerned, the two misdeeds seem to be on a par. The introduction of varnish into the little shanties has diminished the amount of idle writing. A lead pencil does not make much of an impression on the varnish. It has led to a case of "save the surface—and lose the artistic." One virile son of California has risen above this sharp knife. He made pictures of a box kite.

Most "stenogs" are really draughtsmen at heart. Nearly all of them draw something that is a cross between the diagram of a grid leak and a spark gap. YACHTING IS RAPIDLY COMING TO FORE AMONG ORANGE COUNTY OUTDOOR SPORTS

Vice Commodore Beek Takes Active Part in Newport Beach Organization

More and more yachting is coming to the fore as an Orange county sport, according to Joseph Beek, vice commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Beek was instrumental in assisting in organizing the boys and girls of Newport Beach into the Bay Island Yacht Club. With Beek in his boat, in the upper left hand corner, the Helen McCormick, Gertrude Murphy and Marie McStadden, members of the new club, all of Newport Beach.

DAILY REGISTER IS LAUDED BY VISITOR

"Orange county and particularly Santa Ana have reasons to congratulate themselves on having as a medium of community expression such an up-to-date, progressive and newsy newspaper as the Santa Ana Daily Register."

This was the opinion voiced by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer of San Luis Obispo county, who motored here for a visit.

In a conversation with Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer of Orange county, Dr. Sutherland told his colleagues that his attention had been called to the willing and intelligent cooperation given public service departments and civic organizations by The Register, the extent of which is favorably commented upon in the southern part of the state. He also added that this service given by The Register has added to its reputation as one of the leading county papers in California.

He was particularly pleased with the cooperation given the health department, a practice, which, he added, if adopted by other county and small city papers, would make the work of county and city health officers more effective, and give the taxpayers better return for money spent on this service.

SHERMAN RUM TRIAL TO COME UP WEDNESDAY

Prominent Clubman Faces Hearing Alone, As Zeilley Is Reported Missing

Echoes of a raid made last December at Newport Beach, when 271 cases of choice liquor were seized by government officers, were heard today, with announcement that Capt. C. K. Sherman, prominent clubman, of Balboa, charged with violation of the dry laws, may go to trial July 8, in the federal court at Los Angeles.

At the time of the raid, a sea-going motor boat, Nigger Boy, belonging to Captain Sherman, was seized and confiscated by prohibition agents.

One Indicted Disappears.
 According to U. S. Attorney George O'Hannesian, in charge of the prosecution, the dapper clubman may have to go on trial alone, as Walter G. Zeilley, indicted with Captain Sherman, following the raid, has disappeared. Both Captain Sherman and Zeilley have been at liberty under bond since December 31.

In the event that Zeilley does not appear for trial, the prosecutor will face a contest to prove that Zeilley, master of the Nigger Boy, was on board the vessel on the night the prohibition officers effected their spectacular raid. In the course of the raid, the officers searched the home and garage of Captain Sherman, as well as the boat.

Agents Shoot at Man.
 The agents shot at a man who dived overboard from Nigger Boy, and Zeilley later was identified by a Newport Beach man, E. C. Kersey, as the wet and bedraggled person who asked him for shelter several hours after the shooting.

Kersey, giving testimony before Federal Commissioner Raymond I. Turney at the hearing of Captain Sherman and Zeilley, described how the stranger appeared at his cabin home and applied for shelter. He said the early morning visitor was wet to the skin and not only admitted that he had been swimming at that unusual hour, but that "I might be a rum runner."

Kersey said the stranger who gave him $20 for his services in providing dry attire, a warm bed and food, had a tattoo on his right arm.

When E. T. McGann, then an assistant federal prosecutor, requested Zeilley to stand up, Kersey readily identified him. Zeilley's attorney, Mack Meader, objected strenuously when McGann asked Zeilley to bare his right arm, and the objection was sustained, even though Zeilley said he was willing to do it.

START SECOND Y. SWIMMING CLASS

Another class of small boys was enrolled yesterday for the swimming classes conducted in the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. under supervision of R. R. Russick, director of physical education.

The first class, which closed last Wednesday, resulted in teaching all but two or three of the boys enrolled to swim, at least across the pool. The new class, which is filled up to start with, undoubtedly will have a similar result, it is declared. Physical Director Russick is able to teach about four boys out of five to swim in four or five lessons.

The next offering of the Y. M. C. A. will be an opportunity for small girls to learn to swim. Russick will give the instruction to this class.

2 DEATHS ARE DECLARED DUE TO ACCIDENTS DURING SUMMER BAND CONCERTS TO BE RESUMED

Verdicts of accidental death were returned yesterday afternoon at inquests conducted by Coroner Charles D. Brown at Winbiger's Mission Federal home, on the bodies of Victor Philip Elsen, 11-year-old Long Beach boy, killed when struck by an auto on July 4, and Frederick W. Weimer, 47, local man, who died of tetanus Saturday, following injuries received last Wednesday in a gravel cave-in.

A coroner's jury found that the boy died from a "fracture of the skull and head, as the result of being run down on the highway south of San Juan Capistrano by a coupe owned and operated by Eugene Blankenship, Huntington Park; death was accidental and we fix no responsibility."

In the case of Weimer, a decision was reached that he died from tetanus, following injuries received at the Ford gravel pit, near Orange, while in the discharge of his duty as an employee of the B. R. Ford Construction company, and that it was due to an accident.

Musicians of Santa Ana are rejoicing today, following announcement by Harry L. Hanson, president of the Santa Ana Municipal band, to the effect that summer concerts will be resumed by the musical organization at once. The first concert of the new series will be given at 7:30 Tuesday night, July 14.

No definite date was given for the last concert but they will continue as long as band finances permit, according to Hanson. A city fund will pay for the summer concerts, and not the donations which have been collected in the "Save the Band" campaign. It was explained by Hanson that the individual community donations are to be used in making the band a permanent Santa Ana institution, while the funds advanced by the city serve only the temporary purpose of assuring the summer concerts.

"The concerts are for all young and old," Hanson declared. He referred to trouble which has faced the band in the past in regard to confusion and noise near the band stand, and asked that all children who attend the concerts be kept with their parents. This plan was seconded by Director Clanton at a meeting of the band last night, and the cooperation of the police department is anticipated in enforcing the quiet rule while the band is playing. "Unknowingly as they may be, the actions of the little folk disturb people near them as well as the bandmen themselves, frequently, and we are counting on the civic pride of the people who attend the concerts to assist in keeping order and quiet while the band is playing."

A full band, of more than 50 pieces, in uniform, will be on the band platform at each concert. Tuesday will be "concert night" throughout the summer. Hanson asserted that each program will begin promptly at 7:30 and advised everyone to arrive considerably earlier if they desire a Birch park seat. A local business man suggested today that some civic organization take up the matter of decorating the band stand. "A few American flags would make the stage look much better," he declared. He signified his intention of taking the matter before one of the civic clubs.

Must Have Finances
 "There are more than 30,000 people in Santa Ana who receive full benefits of the band but have not as yet, given any financial aid to assure its permanence," Hanson added, in speaking of the band fund. "To make the band a sure thing throughout the winter and year to come we must have finances sufficient to pay the director's salary and we hope that the concerts which will be given this summer will prove to Santa Ana residents that they have a band worthy of the most complete support."

In concluding his announcement of the decision to hold the summer programs, Hanson extended a greeting to the public, asking that "Everybody—come and enjoy yourself. The band is ready—let's go."

HENDERSON IS ELECTED HEAD OF INSURANCE ORGANIZATION

Phillips Named Vice President at Annual Session Of Santa Ana Agents

OUTLINE PURPOSE OF ASSOCIATION

'Earthquake Insurance' Is Subject of Address Given By E. D. Holmes at Meet

John A. Henderson was elected president of the Santa Ana Association of Insurance Agents at the annual meeting of that organization, held Monday noon at St. Ann's Inn. C. H. Phillips was named to the office of vice president and Mac O. Robbins was elected secretary and treasurer.

The new executive committee, elected at the meeting, consists of C. E. Dessery, Parke S. Roper, James E. Livesey Jr., and R. G. Cartwright. Roper is the retiring president. About 20 leading insurance men of Santa Ana, all of whom are members of the state and national organizations of insurance agents, form the membership of the local chapter.

Agents Discuss Problems
 Monthly meetings are held at which times either members of the association or outside speakers discuss the current issues or problems connected with the insurance business. E. D. Holmes spoke on "Earthquake Insurance" at the Monday meeting.

An interesting and active year was reviewed by the secretary. It was with the direct aid given by this organization that the Santa Ana fire department held "Fire Prevention week." The committee of the association also drafted a measure which now is before the city board of trustees, which would prohibit the sale and use of fireworks within the city limits. The revised schedule for the insuring of public school buildings, recently adopted by the board of education, was framed by another committee of the insurance club.

Booth at Auto Show
 Santa Ana sent the largest delegation of any city to the regional conference of insurance agents last year. The local insurance men also operated a booth at that show for the National Auto club.

The purpose of the association, as stated by an officer today, is furthering the prevention of accidents and promoting general safety, as well as to study the theory and best possible methods for use in the insurance business.

ORPHEUM BILL AT WALKER'S PACKS THEATER

BY REVIEWER

The booking of regular Orpheum circuit numbers—five acts in all—by Walker's theater brought a capacity attendance to the beautiful North Main street playhouse last night which was indication enough to C. E. Walker, owner and managing director, that Santa Ana and its contiguous country are thoroughly appreciative of the effort expended in securing this class of entertainment.

The same bill will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night with matinees both days. Reviewer can recommend the entertainment to the nth degree.

Del Chain and Lou Archer are the bill's leaders in laughter. Appearing in a turn termed "Oh, I Did Not," they deal largely in nonsense and fun of which they have accumulated a full quota of sure-fire material. Archer, in eccentric makeup and with his drolleries of facial expression, manner and gesture, is the life of the party. Chain is a valuable assistant and a very acceptable vocalist. Bits of travesty mind-reading and idle chatter are presented to the accompaniment of continuous laughter.

The comedians do double duty by appearing again in the closing act with Jack Redmond, providing a comedy background for Redmond's clever trick golf shots and adding materially to the entertainment value of the golfer's offering. Redmond has a pleasing personality and a pleasing act and really needs no assistance to "get his stuff over."

The William Gaxton company in its sketch, "Kisses," fresh from two weeks at the Los Angeles Orpheum, offered a vehicle of distinction and high artistry and most refreshing in its originality. The company was heavily encored last night.

Jack Hanley had his audience in convulsions most of the time with his rummy. He is a most clever pantomimist and offered a rapid fire line of chatter that was highly appreciated. The Six Hassons, Arabians by birth, rounded out the bill with excellent examples of speed in whirling, tumbling and human pyramid building.

Kenneth Howell's Metropolitan Six furnished splendid musical accompaniment throughout the entire program.

"BEGGAR ON HORSEBACK" AT WEST END

"Beggar on Horseback" isn't that kind of a picture. In other words, there's not a single horse or a beggar in the entire length of the new James Cruze production, now showing at the West End theater. It is an amazingly delightful fantasy, poking fun at art, finance, society and most of the other conventions. It was adapted for the screen by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly.

"Beggar on Horseback" is the very opposite kind of a story, being laid in New York City, where the only horses are in museums, and in the realm of dreams, where horses don't figure very much. Edward Horton and Esther Ralston (Mrs. Darling in "Peter Pan") are featured in the leading roles of the picture, in which we find Horton a struggling musician, who has his heart set on writing the Great American Symphony but who has to write orchestrations for tin-pan jazz to keep body and soul together.

"Beggar on Horseback" is truly as amazing and fantastic a spectacle as one could possibly hope to see. It's a real credit to the motion picture art, and, of course, it took Jimmie Cruze to do it. Ethel Wales, James Mason, Frederic Sullivan, Erwin Connelly and Gertrude Short complete the cast.

"MY WIFE AND I" AT YOST TONIGHT

"All's fair in love and war" slides smoothly on the tongue, but is actually a high-powered dynamite charge when followed to the letter. It is a fallacious argument that makes an effective excuse for loose-moraled, uncouth hypocrites who prate glibly of wrong and right, and frequently causes untold heartache.

An instance of this is found in the new picture, "My Wife and I," which will be featured at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow when Irene Rich, Huntly Gordon, John Harroon, John Roche, John Bennett and Tom Ricketts will enact the domestic comedy-drama that pictures the varicolored incidents that result from the love tangle that enmeshes a lovely gold-digger, a father and his son.

Irene Rich's demure charm in the part of Mrs. Borden makes her an ideal wife and mother. Later the role calls for great emotional expression, which enables this famous star to give play to the tremendous dramatic talent she possesses.

"LILIES OF THE STREETS" IS POWERFUL PICTURE

An emotional scene that calls for the supreme test of an actor's powers, takes place between the co-stars, Johnnie Walker and Virginia Lee Corbin, in the court trial in "Lilies of the Streets," the metropolitan policeman's picture now showing at Walker's theater. As a young lawyer, John Harding, Johnnie is not only an ardent suitor of Judith Lee, played by Miss Corbin, but is defending her on a charge of murder to which she has confessed. Positive of her innocence, convinced that she is shielding someone, young Harding skillfully directs his defense toward seeming triumph. Almost

FIVE ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE AT YOST TONIGHT

One of the most unique and at the same time beautiful acts from the standpoint of settings, gowns and girls will be seen at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow when the Vanity Dolls make their initial bow. Four of the most accomplished and most at the popular Western Association Vaudeville route will be seen. They are two pairs of sisters: Mildred and Alice Kay, who specialize in artistic dancing numbers, and Marie Albertine and Edythe Muriel, who devote their attention to the musical end of the act. The harp numbers of the Muriel sisters are worthy of special notice. The act has been gorgeously costumed and elaborately staged.

"In the Land of Laughter" is the cognomen of Scream Welch and Sig Mealy, the great and the small of the acrobatic, singing and dancing world. They have a system of their own in putting over their stuff and for many years they have been able to measure up to the exacting requirements of the vaudeville loving American public. It is a test that requires real performance. It takes a different application fatal additional evidence is thereupon put in by the prosecutor and the conflict is on again. The role is handled by Johnnie Walker in masterly fashion, as he sways the sympathies of the audience at will. Suspense is thus kept at a high pitch throughout the scene, and until the totally unexpected climax is reached. A strong local favorite at all times, the handsome young star adds measurably to his popularity in "Lilies of the Streets."

of the old stuff to make a new act out of the ordinary one, so Bergen and Company in their artistic ventriloquist offering, "The Operation," have a skit that is along brand new lines when they offer a one act playlet in which half the company consists of ventriloquist dummies. They have not overlooked the required amount of romance necessary to put the human interest into their work. Incidentally this act reveals one of the prettiest girls to be seen in vaudeville. A laugh a minute is guaranteed.

Two girls from "down under," Carmen and Rose, have a decidedly clever offering of singing, dancing and comedy, and like the majority of Australian acts, they have perfected their routine to the last degree. One of the funniest things they do is to give their impressions of what an American audience expects English music hall artists to offer.

"As in the Days of Nero" is the somewhat ambiguous billing or Hurio, who, it develops, is a physical wonder of the Hercules type. Some of the things Hurio does seem to be from the realm of the impossible, yet he does them and with apparent ease. He will present some decidedly interesting strong man stunts that are worthy of being classed as original. Every act on this coming bill gives promise of real entertainment with a strong tendency to mirth and music.

Ask Shippers to Bid On Vessels

WASHINGTON, July 7.—President Leigh Palmer of the emergency fleet corporation has addressed a letter to the shipping operators of the United States, paving the way for a campaign to sell all the merchant vessels now owned by the government. The letter urged bids from any responsible party for any ships now held by the government upon a basis of putting the vessels into operation in the American merchant marine.

Man Imagines He Murdered Family

GENEVA, July 7.—A workman walked into the police station recently and said he had murdered his wife and child and had stolen $200. He was arrested and a policeman started for his home. When he arrived there, he found the family in good health and the wife waiting for her husband. The man had imagined the murders. He was later declared insane.

HELEN WILLS BEGINS SEASON SATURDAY

Billy Evans Says

Is diplomacy a greater asset than a keen mind in achieving success as a major league manager?

Is it better to be a good judge of human nature than to possess the ability to outguess the opposition?

The career of Branch Rickey, recently supplanted by Rogers Hornsby, as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, would cause one to think so.

Branch Rickey is the crossword puzzle of baseball. One of the brainiest men in the game, he has never been a great success as a manager.

In this connection I recall the comment that Bobby Wallace, one of the greatest shortstops that ever graced the pastime, made to me over 10 years ago.

Tribute to Rickey
Wallace at the time was playing under Rickey, who was then in charge of the St. Louis Browns. It was a rather formidable looking club that year but didn't meet with much success.

"Rickey is one of the smartest baseball men I ever worked for as far as theory is concerned," said Wallace, "but somehow the club can't win."

"At getting the signals of the opposition he is simply a marvel. He can sit on the bench and call practically every play of the rival team."

"If he doesn't know them at the start of the game, inside of three innings he will have the pitch-out sign, the hit and run signal, the steal sign, as well as most of the other so-called strategic move of the other team."

"If Rickey has a fault, it is in his absolute domination of his team. His methods more or less destroy initiative and make the players mere cogs in the machine."

Associated for years in the same league with Rickey, I have studied his methods. It is my opinion that he preached too much theory, tried to cram too much baseball knowledge into the heads of his players.

In a great many cases it is better to let the player be natural, gamble with the "bone" plays if it possible he will pull, rather than try to make a smart guy out of him.

Another probable fault that no doubt played havoc with Rickey's chances of success was a tendency on his part to shift his lineup on the slightest provocation.

Plays Hunches
Rickey played hunches. He would throw substitutes into the game with reckless abandon, remove regulars in a slump on the slightest pretext. There was always a lack of stability to Rickey's teams because the players reflected the spirit of the manager.

The failure of Rickey is conclusive proof that managerial strategy is only a minor feature in the winning of ball games. Rickey was, and is, a smart baseball man, but he couldn't execute plays on the field or contribute timely base hits.

In the passing of Rickey goes the only major league player or manager who refused to take part in the pastime on Sunday.

SOLONS, BUCS IN IF JULY 4 LEGEND HOLDS

NEW YORK, July 7.—It is a legend of major league baseball that as the teams stand on July Fourth, they will finish in October. It does not mean necessarily that the pennant races are over or that the team in first place will win the pennant but it is an established fact that the championship battles are fairly well settled in early July and that the teams around first place good for the remainder of the season.

It seems certain now that the Washington Senators and the Philadelphia Athletics will fight it out for the American league and that the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates will settle the argument in the National league.

Many critics believe that the Senators will outlast the Athletics because they are an older and more experienced team. In this connection it is interesting that they have sentiment favoring a veteran club because of its age. The collapse of the Yankees was blamed on the age of the team and the success of the Senators is being predicted because of its age.

Bucky Harris obviously favors veteran players else he would not have stocked the team with Van Grege, Duth, Reuther, Stan Coveleski, Joe Harris, Deacon Scott and Hank Severid. The Senators average around 34 years of age.

Average Age is 28
On the other hand, the Athletics, one of the youngest teams in the major leagues, average around 28 years of age. Mack says he will win the pennant because he has a young team and that Griffith says the Athletics cannot hope to win the pennant because they are too young.

Griffith aroused the ire of the veteran Philadelphia manager recently when he said that the Athletics were vastly overrated, that they were playing far over their heads and they would finish in the first division. He said that Simmons, the slugging outfielder, was a bust and that Max Bishop, the star second baseman, was only a flash. Mack answered that he had tried to make a winning team of veteran players, that he had failed a number of times and that he was going to string along in the future with young hustling players.

The Senators may win the pennant this season but the club will have to do something to provide young blood for the future. The Yankees made the mistake of assuming that a flock of old players could go on forever and the team went to pieces with a suddenness that was almost staggering.

The Cincinnati Reds may be a factor in the National league pennant races but it looks like the club is depending too much on perfect pitching and there aren't enough on the Cincinnati staff to carry a light hitting team through to a championship.

The Pittsburgh Pirates as a team are much better balanced and they seem to have developed a fighting heart, the lack of which caused so much disappointment in Pittsburgh in recent years.

Giants Hit Slump
One month ago it looked like the Giants couldn't be caught in the National league and that the pennant race would be a joke before the end of July. But the pitching staff suddenly went wrong, although it never was a woe of a staff and the team was almost wrecked by a succession of injuries that filled the bench with disabled regulars. Before the season started it looked like McGraw, with the greatest reserve strength in the major leagues, could not be bothered with injuries but no one could forecast the string of bad luck that the champions encountered.

McGraw blamed the wreck almost entirely upon the lively ball that he says is being used and he was the first manager to go on record with an admission that there was a jump in the new ball and a dangerous jump. Previous to that no manager had disputed the magnates when they said that the new life in the ball was the result of a superior quality of wool that was available for the yarn since the war. The players, however, have complained for three years, that the ball had been changed and they predicted that some player would be killed if something was not done to curb

BALLERINO WINS.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Mike Balterino, junior lightweight champion, successfully defended his title by winning a 15 round decision from Pepper Martin. New York, Eddie Wagner, Philadelphia, won a 10 round decision from Charley Rosen, New York.

Jack Redmond, ex-golf coach at Yale university and formerly professional at the Carolina Country club at Raleigh, N. C., is a visitor in Santa Ana, putting on a popular vaudeville turn at Walker's theater, and arrangements are being made for him to play around the Santa Ana Country club's course with several star local players.

Redmond, who has opposed such experts as Walter Hagen, Gene Sarazen, Arthur Havers and Joe Kirkwood, is an exponent of trick shots and his act proved interesting, original and popular last night at Walker's where it will be repeated tonight and tomorrow.

Local golfers who saw his act wondered if there is much in the first admonition of the links: "Keep your eye on the ball." Redmond hits them with ease when his eyes are directed over his right shoulder at the audience. Jack has a lot of other tricks that few golfers can even come close to boasting. For instance, he tees one ball on top of another, not once but three, and then with good healthy swings removes them one by one.

Redmond is anxious to prove he can do a lot of things on the golf course as well as the stage and it is probable that he will play around the Santa Ana Country club's course tomorrow afternoon in a foursome.

Jack has a pleasing personality both on and off the stage and he will be popular with Santa Ana players who have the opportunity to meet him.

SCHOLZ, HUSSEY TO RACE AT PASADENA

LOS ANGELES, July 7.—Three of the fastest sprint runners in the United States will attempt to break the world record for 100 meters at Pasadena Saturday. Jackson Scholz, Frank Hussey and Jimmie Todd are the three men who will go after the record. The present record, 10.4 seconds, was made by Charley Paddock in 1921.

The event will be a special feature of the women's national track and field championships to be held in the Crown City Saturday afternoon.

Golfer to Drive Ball Off Actor's Famed Derby Hat

The two Jacks—Jack Redmond, golfer extraordinary, and Jack Hanley, pantomimist de luxe, who are starring in the Orpheum vaudeville bill at Walker's theater—will join for a most unusual performance. In front of the George Dunton garage, 420 East Fourth street, at 6 p. m. today.

Redmond will be present with his golf sticks and Hanley will be on hand with his famous brown derby which he uses in his novelty juggling act. Redmond will drive a golf ball from the derby which will be perched atop Hanley's head.

GAS CO. TEAM MAKES RECORD BY 22-2 WIN

Bombarding Pitcher Gene Hitt to every known section of the Poly indoor ball grounds and making merry while the opposition blundered not once but often, the Southern Counties Gas company team established a City league record when it ran up a total of 22 runs on the Roehm-Sylvester company aggregation last night. The tobacco dispensers were able to score but twice on "Eeny" Wilcox.

This is the largest score that has been made by any team either in the current loop or the Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league which recently completed its season.

It started like a real ball game, the Roehm-Sylvester tallying their lone digit in the first inning and the Gas company men taking one in their half, and tying things up in the second. Thunder broke loose in the third, however, for the Gas company pushed around eight markers. Six more were hammered around in the fourth and the travesty was continued in the fifth with nine additional scores being recorded.

By their overwhelming victory, the winners became red hot favorites to dash through the "A" league ranks to the championship.

In the curtain-raiser, Raitt's Sanitary Dairy climbed all over the Grand Central market club, winning in six spasms, 11 to 3.

Tonight's game will be furnished by the Excelsior Creamery company and Garden Grove.

Alfonso Insists On Little Humor

MADRID, July 7.—King Alfonso insisted upon having his little "prohibition" joke while witnessing the display of the musical fountains at La Granja recently. The royal party included Ambassador Moore.

The king, the acting president of the directorate, the Marquis Admiral Magaz and half of the court were seated on one side of the fountains and the queen and the rest of the court were on the other side. The fountains on the king's side overplayed, drenching the sovereign and those around him. The king good humoredly shouted to Magaz:

"This should be for Moore. His country insists on water."

WESTERN GIRL PRACTICES TO DEFEND TITLE

Admits She Would Like to Meet Suzanne Lenglen; Arrival Is Unheralded

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 7.—Training for what she hopes will be the best season of her career, Miss Helen Wills, the youthful national tennis champion, will start the eastern season in Boston Saturday.

She is now living at Forest Hills and playing against major competition at the West Side Tennis club. In her characteristic modest fashion, she arrived last week unheralded and had been playing for several days before her presence became known generally.

"I am in very good condition," she said today, "and I feel that I am playing better. I played quite a lot of tennis in California before I came east and I am going to play as much as I can here."

The young champion looks lighter than she was last year at Wimbledon and in Paris and she says she has lost some weight. She also seems faster on her feet and has much more pace in her game.

Although she hesitates to talk about her game, it is apparent that she has no fear of Lenglen, the champion crown that she has worn for two years.

She also allows an intimation that she would like to meet Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the claimant of the world's championship.

"Mlle. Lenglen is a superb player," Miss Wills said. "I saw enough of her game in Wimbledon last year to know that and I understand that she was not playing her best game then."

"I would like to have gone to Wimbledon this year, not seeking a match with Mlle. Lenglen, of course, but to get the experience that is so valuable. I am going to England next year and it may be that we will meet. I may be able to win from her some time—when she gets old enough."

The young champion had heard reports that Mrs. Mollie Mallory, the former champion, was training more seriously than ever to regain the crown that she wore for many years.

"Mrs. Mallory," she said, "does not have to do any extra work to beat most players. She always has been a great player and a great competitor. She probably will be stronger, however, since she remained out of a strenuous winter season."

HOW TO ANSWER BLIND CLASSIFIED ADS
(In answering blind classified ads, please be careful to use the address given in the ad. Write address plainly. Letters brought to the Register office do not require stamps. Always include your answer in sealed envelope.)
ADVERTISERS
If an advertiser who has made application for credit and opened an account with The Register Credit Department in the regular form desires to have any advertisement further published, he may do so by signing a "stop" order to that effect. An advertisement thus suspended will appear regularly until countermanded by written order.
REPLIES
The Register postoffice department is conducted for the benefit of patrons who wish answers to come to the office. Advertisers are furnished with identification cards, which must be presented at the Register office. For the protection of our patrons, replies are given out except on presentation of box card.
No record is kept of the names and addresses of patrons using the Register postoffice, and therefore no information concerning these advertisers can be supplied. A charge is made for the words "Box A-234, care The Register."

THE COUNTY'S ASSESSMENT

Figures taken from the assessment rolls of Orange county for the year, published in today's Register, give an idea not only of the wealth of Orange county but also of its stability. The total assessed valuation for this county, which in area is the smallest county in the state south of Santa Cruz, is $162,205,505. That, of course, denotes great wealth, for assessed valuations are only about one-third of market valuations. Stability is proven by the fact that in spite of great changes in valuations and in spite of ten per cent cuts made by the assessor upon buildings and upon orchards injured by frost, the total remains not far different from last year's total.

An examination of the figures also gives us an idea of the huge problem that is presented to those making an assessment for this county. Probably no county in the United States presents any wider range of problems than comes each year before the assessor of this county. If our county was all cattle range, an assessment would be a comparatively simple thing; if all orchard, difficulties would be reduced; if all oil, we would have fewer decisions to make; if we had no rapid growth and had no quick changes in valuations, the making of a new assessment would be a rather simple process, for an assessor could do most of it by copying the previous year's figures.

But our county has diversified interests. We have cattle range; orchards, both young and old; irrigated lands and dry lands; soils that vary from rocky hillsides to the richest of peat; oil values, actual and potential; land that last year grew barley hay, this year supports an oil derrick or an oil lease, or white stakes that mark the corners of subdivision lots; we have sugar beet farms and sugar beet factories, and we see lima bean lands made over into Valencia groves. This is a growing, developing country, with changes constantly going on. The assessor in his endeavor to keep assessed valuations in their proper relation to actual selling values has to be wide awake the whole year around.

That County Assessor James Sleeper and his deputies are fully aware of the fact that their job is a big job and requires constant attention, is a statement that needs no amplification. The county at the polls, for years, has expressed its confidence in Sleeper. A cursory examination of this year's assessment gives The Register reason to reiterate its expressions of confidence.

ABATE THIS NUISANCE

With his usual gentle but none the less ghoulish glee, Harry Carr in the Times, commends Acting Captain Sweeney for ordering Los Angeles "police cars to stop rushing madly through the streets shrieking their sirens."

And then he goes on to inquire: "But why does the illustrious Sweeney stop with the sirens? Why not stop the infernal clatter of police motorcycles—and other motorcycles?"

And so say we all, of Santa Ana as well as of Los Angeles.

True, the police cars and ambulances and the motorcycles of the cops have some excuse, sometimes, for sounding their sirens, when there is real necessity for excessive speed and consequent imperative demand for right of way. But often no such necessity exists, the sounding of the sirens and the machine-gun clatter of the motorcycles are mere swash-buckling.

And the other motorcyclists! Of all the outrageous nuisances their excessive speed and unnecessary noise is the worst.

And, by the way, why is it we hear of so few arrests of motorcyclists? They can pass every car on the road, even cars that are stopped for speeding—and get away with it. Why?

It might help to clarify the situation if a few more people would take Darwin's "Origin of Species" and find for themselves what that scientist really wrote.

CANADA VS. RUM RUNNING

A group of Ontario prohibitionists is demanding of the prime minister the enactment of effective legislation that would put an "end to the national disgrace of rum-running upon our international border," and the prohibition in any Province of the manufacture of liquor when the sale is prohibited.

It is a hopeful suggestion. It is also gratifying to law-abiding Americans on this side of the Canadian border to learn that rum-running is not the favorite occupation of Canadians in general. A stricter check maintained on all liquor shipments from the Dominion will go far toward reducing the amount of illicit liquor which has been finding its way across the border. It will help, too, to eliminate the danger of ill-feeling in Canada toward our enlarged rum-navy on the Great Lakes.

SUNLIGHT GIFT OF GOD

June, July and August are the sunlight months. Except in favored regions where the sun shines pretty regularly all the year round, they are especially notable for their brightness. Old Sol is at his best; and therefore, in spite of prejudices and fears of a few old-fashioned folk who fear the sun and "hate hot weather," the weather is at its best.

"The god of life and poesy and light," Byron called the sun. Modern science agrees with the poetry of all ages. The sun is the great life-giver. Its light is the life of the world. If mankind were to turn back to nature for divinity, as in ancient days, surely the worship of Apollo, Byron's god, were the most natural.

Without sunshine there is no life. With it, there is life abundant. It is excessive sunshine that makes such a wealth of life in the tropics, just as it enriches the northern summer.

Science tells much of late regarding the vitalizing power of the sun, revealing secrets formerly only guessed at. It is far more than heat and illumination. In the invisible ultra-violet rays are found the same curative powers existing in some of our most potent medicines. Those rays play the part of "vitamins," and play it better. Children suffering from rickets are restored by sunshine. Its rays are prescribed for tuberculosis, anemia, and many kinds of nervous diseases and other disorders. They act as stimulants to all the vital powers.

Sunshine, even the hottest of it, is usually feared without cause. Sultry weather, of course, is bad. Heat and moisture together may bring prostration. Clear, dry sunlight, such as we have in California, is the ideal. And even too much of that, without due preparation or precaution, may be painful. But with a gradually accumulated coat of tan and a reasonable amount of common sense, almost anyone should find in summer sunshine the richest of the year's blessings.

Get out into the sun, whether on the street, in the fields or, better yet, on stream or lake or seashore or mountains. Drench yourself in it, and feel the life flow into you and charge your vital batteries.

Spelling Championship

Fresno Republican.

The national spelling championship was won in Washington the other day by 11 year old Frank Neuhauser of Louisville, Kentucky, when he spouted out "G-L-A-D-I-O-L-U-S," loudly, brightly, firmly, confidently," as Time, the weekly news-magazine puts it.

The spelling contest revealed some interesting mistakes. Elimination trials had been held in different cities until nine state champions had been selected to meet in Washington for the grand finale. Almeda Pennington of Houston, Texas, spelled "skittish" with a "c" and was the first to slip out. A little Belgian girl from South Bend, Indiana, who has spoken English but five years, thought "cosmos" was "cosmos" and spelled it with an "a." A lad from Oklahoma got twisted on "propeller." A New Haven youngster "had overlooked" "blackguard," and when the word-giver pronounced it, "blaggard," Patrick said, "Huh?" and then spelled it just the way it sounded. A Detroit girl floundered on "statistician" and the word "moribund" was too difficult for the Ohio contestant.

There is something uncommonly appealing about this item of news. It savors of the old-fashioned spelling bee and carries all of us back to the ward school days of our childhood when spelling contests of the kind made a hit with us and when it was something of a scholastic honor to win one of them. None of us will ever forget the day we were told to "go to the head of the class" after we had proudly spelled some word from our elders' vocabulary, nor will we ever cease to remember the sting of being sent to the foot of the class when we muffed an easy one. They were the good old days! And anything that carries us back to this is distinctly worth while. So while the national spelling championship is a most excellent contest for the children of today it means something to us, too.

Real Mountain Road

San Bernardino Sun.

Both the federal and state governments have built some excellent highways on top of the mountains, but what is urgently needed is a low grade and paved route leading to the crest.

The state highway commission engineers have located a new route through Waterman canyon at a grade of not to exceed 7 per cent. The construction of this road should be hurried and San Bernardino could with propriety ask the federal government to join in the project.

No recreative mountain road in California handles as much traffic as does the Waterman canyon road. This is the popular route to Lake Arrowhead and all of the western end of the Rim of the World region, and much Big Bear Valley traffic likewise utilizes this road.

All of the present roads from the valley to the crest were constructed by the county. The Waterman canyon route has become a state highway. The City Creek and Mill Creek routes are county highways.

As the mountain highway situation now stands probably all that is required for action is an indication from San Bernardino county that immediate improvement on the Waterman canyon route is urgent. The mountain roads are carrying great numbers of motorists and on holidays the highway facilities are over taxed.

Undoubtedly the Chamber of Commerce will give the Waterman canyon project the attention that it requires.

Surplus Enormous

Pasadena Star-News.

The United States Treasury, at the close of the government's fiscal year, shows a surplus of more than $250,500,000! This is almost four times the amount forecast last October and is $50,000,000 in excess of the figures given by President Coolidge in his budget address just a few days ago.

The treasury department has veritably run away with itself in the matter of accumulating a surplus. Notwithstanding substantial tax reductions and the payment of more than $734,000,000 on the public debt, this huge excess of funds in the treasury has been amassed.

This extremely favorable treasury statement is source of gratification, relief and rejoicing for the whole country. It denotes a settled policy, on the part of the administration, to hew to the line of retrenchment and economy. It foreshadows substantial reduction in federal taxes. This, in turn, will stimulate developmental investments and promote activity in business and industry. The general effect of this splendid showing will be beneficial to the whole country.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

GOOD BED A GOOD INVESTMENT
A good bed is a good investment. It should not be too soft. It should have springs that give, permitting the mattress to conform to the shape of the body.

Some advise against feather pillows and feather beds. They maintain that feathers overheat the body and head. Hair or cotton mattresses on cotton or hair pillows are recommended by these.

However, if one is enjoying refreshing sleep on a feather pillow, it would be foolish to throw it away and get a hair pillow.

Bed covers should be porous and light. Loosely woven woolen blankets are the best. Two blankets, or two thicknesses of any kind of cover is better than the same thickness and weight in one single piece.

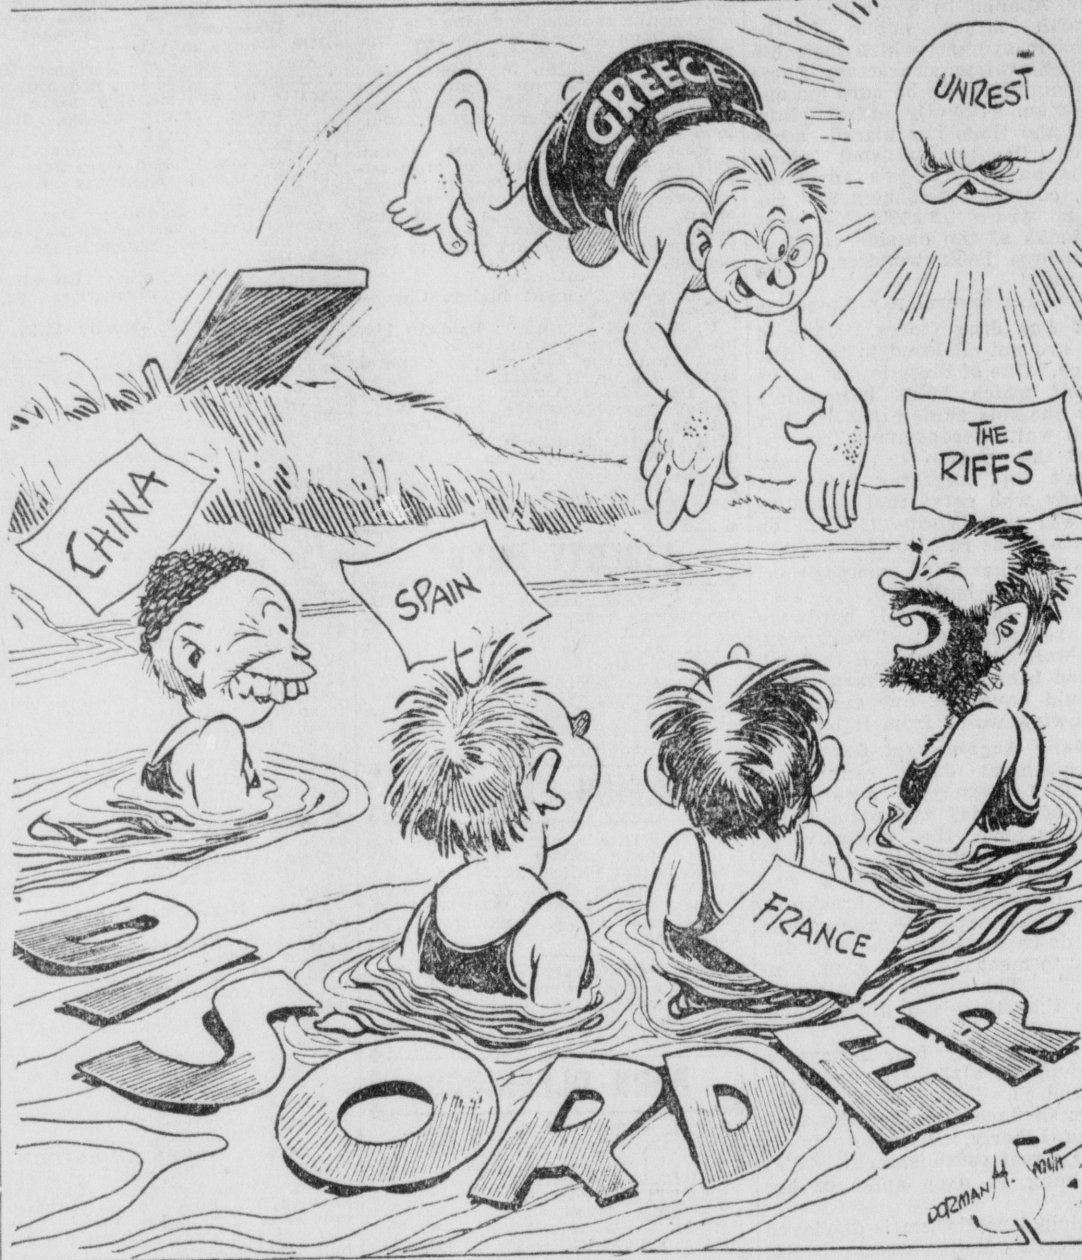

Always have the room well ventilated. Night air is not dangerous. The healthiest people are the ones who sleep right out in the open, winter and summer.

Especially is out-door sleeping well for persons who spend their working hours inside. Cold air is invigorating, and an outing during sleep is almost as beneficial as an outing when awake.

Special care should be taken that bed clothing is warm and dry. Electric blankets now are on the market. By turning on the current an hour before retiring, the bed will always be found to be warm and dry.

True Heroism

By Aristotle

But the terrible is not to all persons the same; and there is something which we say is beyond the power of man to bear; this, therefore, is terrible to every man, at least to every man of sense.

But those which are within the power of man to bear differ in magnitude, and in being some greater and some less; and circumstances which cause confidence differ likewise.

But the brave man is fearless, as becomes a man; therefore, at such things he will feel fear; but he will bear up, as far as right and reason dictate, for the sake of what is honorable; for there is this same end to all the virtues.

But it is possible, for these things to be feared too much and too little, and, again, for things not terrible to be feared as if they were so.

But of faults, one is that the thing itself is not right; another, that the manner is not right; another, that the time is not right, and so on; and the case is similar with respect to things that cause confidence.

Now he who bears bravely, and who fears what he ought, and from the right motive, and in the right manner, and at the right time, and feels confidence in like manner, is brave.

For the brave man suffers and acts just as the nature of the case demands, and right reason warrants.

JUNE ROSES

Gather me roses—June roses!
Oh, give me a rose pure white!
For down in its dewy depths I see
The days that can never come back to me;
All the sweet unfolding mystery
Of life, in its morning light.

Gather me roses—June roses!
Oh, give me a golden cup—
The rose that blooms by the garden gate
Where youth's impatient feet must wait;
Where Love is so insatiate
That June must drink it up.

Gather me roses—June roses!
That grow in the still moonlight!
Oh, come where the pale pink ramblers crawl
And spill themselves on the cool stone wall,
Let me drink my fill of their sweet enthrall,
And the witchery of night.

Gather me roses—June roses!
Oh, the rose that is red like wine!
The rose that will be plucked and torn;
That brings the heart's blood with its thorn,
While down in its crimson depths is born,
Anew, your love—and mine!

McMillan's Chance

New York Times

The sailing of MacMillan's ships, the Bowdoin and the Peary, from the salty Sheepshead river on Saturday, with thousands of school children in white spelling the explorer's name on the hillside, may yet be regarded as an historic event. The expedition will endeavor to make daily reports of progress by radio. Even the amphibious planes, flying from the shore of Axel Heiberg to seek for land in the uncharted space of a million square miles between the Pole and Alaska, will try to transmit any discovery made. If MacMillan's ships can pick up a bulletin, it will be repeated to receiving stations and private sets in the states. The old explorers were out of touch with the world as soon as they sailed from a Greenland port. Months, sometimes years, would pass without news of them, and when the period of silence became so long as to cause concern rescue expeditions were organized to bring them back, if they could be found. Commander MacMillan expects to account for himself and the men who share his perils almost every hour of the day, subject to static. The world ought to know before autumn whether new land is to be added to the map. The place of the slow-moving dog sled is taken by the darting airplane, which in fair weather should be able to fly into the unknown from Cape Hubbard and return in less than half a day, bringing material for photographs of the ice-pack and islands (Ohio may be over which the course of the flight lay).

While the activities of MacMillan are to be multifarious, the discovery of land north of Alaska which could be claimed as American territory would stand out as his greatest achievement. Compared with it, a visit to "ruins" of a colony of Eric the Red on Turnevik Island, "the writing of radio history in the North," studies of Arctic weather and tidal movements, even the finding of another tribe of Eskimos who had never seen the face of a white man, would be of minor importance. Perhaps the new land could never be used, not even for the "acronautical station between the North American continent and Japan, but geographers would be no less elated than the plain American. The North Pole is ours (if we want it) by virtue of Peary's planting the national colors. Why shouldn't the land that has been indicated by peculiar ice formations seen in the polar sea, by significant tidal variations, and by the sights of birds' nests and eggs in the drift that comes from somewhere?

MacMillan's expedition is a map of the polar regions, you see that land masses are marked upon it everywhere except in that untracked wilderness between Alaska and the Pole. It seems almost incredible the land is not there in that waste of a million square miles.

At last, Donald B. MacMillan's chance has come to write his name beside that of his old chief as an explorer. MacMillan, as a comparative novice in the expedition of 1908-9, was not included in the dash to the Pole with the Eskimos and Matthew Henson. His excursions to study the natives of Labrador brought him little reputation; instead of locating "Crocker Land" he returned baffled with the story of a mirage, such as no doubt deceived Peary. The Barfin Land sortie failed to lift MacMillan to the plane of the great explorers. But Fame now knocks at his door. His expedition to make over the map of the Arctic is well equipped; he has the backing of the National Geographical society; the navy department has lent him three planes and a squad of aviators. His only rival, the gallant Amundsen, is out of the picture. The open spaces of the Arctic are MacMillan's to range in afoot and a wing. He is really our only polar explorer who counts today.

Tombs of the Great

They took the mortal remnant of Thomas R. Marshall, once governor of Indiana and for two terms vice president of the United States, back to his Hoosier home to repose in the eternal sleep. After the great tragedy in Washington, in '65, they took the body of Abraham Lincoln back to Springfield, Ill.—the scene of his early struggles—to rest. They took the bodies of Garfield, McKinley and Harding back to their beloved Ohio for permanent sepulture. Theodore Roosevelt Roosevelt lies near the home he loved.

There is a beautiful sentiment in this custom of entombing great men and women near the old home. It matters not, in one way—the hard, practical way—where the body lies, once life has fled. The body, at best, is but a temporary temple—the abiding place of the soul for a few short years. At death the soul passes and the body perishes, returning to dust, whence it came. And yet, the resting place of the mortal remnant of a human being has a sentimental appeal—it recalls vividly the person as he or she was in life.

The tomb of the great is properly a shrine for all generations—not that the tomb itself holds any of the immortal parts of the deceased. But sentiment attaches to the tomb, linking death back to life.—Pasadena Star News.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 8—THE BEAN-SHOOTER-MAN

The Twins started out to find Pixie Cave to find the lost beehive of the Fairy Queen.

Nick carried in his pocket the key to the secret cupboard, given them by the Sour-Old-Woman-Who-Lived-Under-the-Waterfall. Nancy carried nothing, but she kept saying over and over to herself, "To get to Pixie Cave we must pass three things: first, the Pebble Wall of the Bean-Shooter-Man; second, the Mire-of-Mud where the Cucumber Patch of the Pickle Woman."

Pretty soon the Twins came to the Pebble Wall. It towered over them like a great dark mountain, and was so long from end to end that there was no knowing where it went to.

"Here is a path!" cried Nick. "We'll manage to get over it fast." But the instant he put his foot on it a million tiny pebbles came rolling down and almost buried the children.

"Hey, there! Who is meddling with my pebbles?" cried a voice. And who should appear at that very second but a long thin person with a long thin face, and long thin legs, and also carrying a long thin pipe that looked so much like himself it was hard to tell them apart.

The Twins didn't move, as how, indeed, could they, being buried in pebbles almost up to their necks.

"Oh ho! So it's you, it is!" exclaimed the Bean-Shooter-Man, coming quite close and peering into their faces. You'd have thought that he had known them all their lives from the way he spoke. "Yes, I see it is you," he went on. "And now that you are where you are, I shall read you a lecture. I like to read people lectures, so I always keep one handy. Let me see, where did I put that last lecture?" And he tapped all his pockets.

"Oh, here it is," he said at last. "It's on manners. How do you like this?"

The Bean-Shooter-Man laid the long bean-shooter on the ground and started to read:

"Manners are important. They either get you somewhere or they get you nowhere, but at any rate one should have them. Never touch what doesn't belong to you. It might blow up, or fall down, or do anything at all to you. At any rate don't touch it."

"Is that all?" asked Nancy as the Bean-Shooter-Man paused for breath. She hoped it was. Not only did she dislike lectures, but lecture on manners most of all. She could hear that at home. Besides, the pebbles were hot and heavy, and she wanted to get out.

"My, no!" said the Bean-Shooter-Man. "There's a lot more about getting up for your elders, and about being seen and not heard, and all that. But you look tired, so I'll stop. I hope I know enough manners for that. Never bore your audience, says I. And now will you tell me what you are doing, where you are going, and why you tried to cross my pebble wall without first asking me?" (To be continued.)
